WORKERS ABANDON EFFORTS TO REMOVE FLOYD COLLINS' BODY FROM DEATH CAVE!

SCHOOL BONDS BEING VOTED ON TODAY

Polls Will Remain Open Until 8 o'Clock Tonight; Returns at The News

The Glendale Evening News will provide returns on today's school bond election. The polls will close at 8 o'clock and partial returns will be available shortly after that hour. It is probable that the result on both issues will be known before 9 o'clock, provided the election boards show speed in counting the ballots. Call Glendale 4000 for election returns.

Indications are that a fairly heavy vote is being polled at the $2,400,000 Glendale school bond election today. The polls opened at 8 o'clock in the morning and will remain open until 8 o'clock tonight.

Early in the afternoon Richardson D. White, superintendent of city schools, and George U. Moyse, high school principal, made a tour of the seven Glendale city school district precincts and the ten Glendale Union High school district precincts. They reported a large number of votes cast.

There are approximately 17,000 registered voters in the Glendale city school district and these, with the registered voters of Sunland, Tujunga and La Crescenta districts, are eligible to vote at today's election, Mr. White states, provided they registered prior to January 17, 1925, and since January 1, 1924.

Two Issues to Decide

Returns will begin to come in after the polls close at 8 o'clock tonight, and full information may be obtained from The Glendale Evening News, by calling Glendale 4000.

There are two issues up for decision at the polls today, both for school expansion. The Glendale city board of education is asking $1,200,000 for elementary and intermediate schools, and the Glendale Union High school board of trustees is asking $1,200,000 for high schools, a total of $2,400,000, that if voted, will be paid by the taxpayers of the districts, on bonds issued to cover the cost of the proposed expansion programs.

A full list of the seven city and ten high school polling places, together with names of election officials, appeared in The Glendale Evening News for Saturday, February 14. The voting places are also published today in The News. By consulting this list, every registered voter will be able to determine at which precinct he or she is enrolled, and will be able to proceed there and vote before the polls close at 8 o'clock tonight.

King George Suffering With Attack of 'Flu'

LONDON, Feb. 17. — King George is suffering from bronchitis, due to influenza, it was officially announced today at Buckingham palace. The official bulletin was issued at 2 o'clock this afternoon and was signed by three physicians. The bulletin added:

"In spite of a restless night, His Majesty's condition is satisfactory."

Jap Ambassador Sails For American Duties

TOKIO, Feb. 17.—Ambassador Designate Matsudaira sailed today on the Shinyo Maru to take up his post at Washington. Many diplomats and friends saw the statesman off. The foreign office denied that he was carrying Japan's suggestion for a new arms parley to Washington.

Father and Son 'Clean Up'

They do come back sometimes. WILLIAM C. DURANT, who was counted "out" when he was forced from control of the General Motors Corp., is now counting new winnings in Wall street estimated at $10,000,000. This is his third great coup in the stock market in two years. Durant, a thoroughly unpretentious individual, is seen lunching in a "one-arm joint." Incidentally, R. Cliff Durant, son of William C., caught the rising market the other day and made more than $2,000,000.

Dad Goes East to Pile Up New Fortune But Son Does It In L. A.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 17.—William C. Durant, motor manufacturer, recently made about $10,000,000 in Wall street in United States Cast Iron Pipe, following his return from his California winter vacation.

And now comes the announcement that his son, R. Cliff Durant, made about $2,000,000 the other day in "stocks and bonds."

The younger Durant today admitted that, while his operations were not as extensive as his father's, he also had been in the market.

'Made in Los Angeles'

It developed that, during the time "Dad" was smashing his way to sensational profits in New York, his son had made more than two million by staying right in Los Angeles.

And "Cliff" did not add to his fortunes in Cast Iron Pipe. He had not been as optimistic about this stock as his father, and confined his trading to General Motors, Universal Pipe, Pan-American "B" and other securities, which he sold when the market reached its recent "peak."

Mrs. Kahn's Election To Congress Predicted

CIVIC BODIES BACK PLANS OF FIESTA

Club Presidents, Commerce Members Set September As Pageant Month

Civic organizations and service clubs of Glendale took steps today to formulate plans for a great three-day fiesta and historical pageant to be staged during early September in conjunction with the seventy-fifth anniversary of the admission of California into the Union.

Presidents of all service clubs, representatives of the Chamber of Commerce and the Realty board met at the Kopper Kettle at noon today and heard the general plan for the fiesta unfolded by Lon Haddock, one of the original sponsors.

Parade and Pageant

The historic lore surrounding Glendale, a part of the original San Rafael ranch grant, will be the background setting for the fiesta. As tentatively outlined by Mr. Haddock, a parade and pageant embodying the story of the early founding of the state with thousands of persons participating would occupy most of the first day, with a carnival to follow at night.

Second and Third Days

On the second day all industrial and commercial institutions of the city would be thrown open for inspection, with a barbecue dinner at noon. On the third day the spirit of carnival would again reign with special moving-picture industry events and athletic games of many sorts. The fiesta would be concluded with a street dance and blaze of glory on the third night.

Plans Campaign

The pageant will be held on three days, one of which will be Admission Day, September 9. It will commemorate the seventy-fifth anniversary of the admittance of the state to the Union.

Mr. Haddock will commence tomorrow a speaking campaign, talking before all clubs within the next week. Representatives who attended the meeting today were D. H. Smith, Howard I. Wood, William L. Twining, J. M. Boland, W. B. Kelly, Frank L. Fox, J. Herbert Smith, Dr. H. R. Boyer, C. J. Hatz and Mr. Haddock.

ROOSEVELT IS WITNESS IN AIR PROBE

Young Teddy Tells Senators No Battle Will Be Fought In Sky

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—Essaying the role of prophet, Theodore Roosevelt, former assistant secretary of the navy, told the House aircraft investigating committee today that "no battle will ever be fought out alone in the air," and advocated keeping aviation "an auxiliary service."

Roosevelt opposed a unified air service, such as Brigadier-General William Mitchell proposes, saying "it would be a very great mistake."

"Our greatest trouble with aviation is that we treat it as a developed science," said Roosevelt.

"To my mind it would be a very great mistake, from the point of view of defense, to take the air services from the army and navy and unite them under one branch.

Auxiliary Branch

"I can't imagine any battle being fought out alone in the air. Aviation is an auxiliary branch and should be kept so.

"Aviation performs two prime functions. First, observation, and second, harassing. Observation and harassing are different in the army than in the navy. Therefore, each the army and the navy needs separate air forces, different personnel, men who understand the peculiar and separate problems of the army and the navy."

OFFICIALS DECLARE DANGER TOO GREAT, WILL CLOSE SHAFT

All Operations Cease After Father And Friends of Explorer Agree To Permit Remains To Stay In Cavern Tomb

By CARL W. HARRIS
For International News Service.

SAND CAVE, Feb. 17.—All operations to recover the body of Floyd Collins from the Sand Cave tomb in which he was trapped eighteen days ago were abandoned at 11:30 o'clock today, after four friends of Collins and a coroner's jury of experienced men had verified the judgment of H. T. Carmichael, general supervisor, that further efforts were futile and would result only in further cost of human life.

Lee Collins, father of Floyd, gave his consent to abandoning the operations shortly after 10 o'clock.

"I would be satisfied," he said, "to let my boy stay down there. I believe he would have been content to know a cave would be his tomb."

Simple funeral services for Collins were held on the brow of the cliff overlooking the pit under which his body lies, at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Officiating was Dr. C. K. Dickey of the Horse cave and Cave City Methodist church. A combined choir from the three churches in Cave City sang.

Shortly after noon Lieutenant-Governor H. H. Denhardt called a conference of officials to determine whether the cave would be dynamited or the shaft filled with rocks and earth and the original entrance sealed.

Just after the abandonment plans were announced formally, Dr. William Hazlett of Chicago went into the shaft and made a detailed examination of the upper part of the body and pronounced, officially, that Collins had been dead two to five days. Dr. Hazlett is the only medical man actually to reach Collins.

While he was preparing his detailed report for submission to the coroner's jury the officials who had been conferring on the means of closing Sand cave to human beings forever, announced that it had been decided to fill the shaft with earth and boulders and seal the original entrance. The overhanging cliff, they said, will not be tumbled down into the pit by a blast of dynamite.

General Denhardt announced this afternoon that the troops would leave Sand Cave tonight.

Possibilities of another attempt to recover Collins' body, perhaps by private individuals, were ended with a statement by

HOLD FUNERAL NEAR TOMB OF VICTIM

Simple Rites, Old-Fashioned Hymns as Tribute to Prisoner of Cave

SAND CAVE, Ky., Feb. 17.—With services that were indicative of the lives of the people who live in these Kentucky hills, the funeral of Floyd Collins was held this afternoon.

Simple prayers, the old-fashioned hymns, simple phrases—were the characteristics of the final tribute for the man whose final resting place is but a few feet away, in a tomb of rock, from the place where the services were held.

It was at the request of Lee Collins, aged father of the dead man, that the funeral was held on the brow of the cliff where men have battled for nearly two weeks to rescue the cave prisoner from the earth.

Forget Denominations

The services started with the singing of "Nearer My God to Thee" by choirs from three congregations in Cave City. In this finale to the epic of the hills denominations were forgotten.

From the Bible these people take their text of life and from the Bible came the text of death.

BRITAIN STIRS ARMAMENT SESSION

Delay Urged for Discussion Brings Sharp Rebuke From Frenchmen

GENEVA, Feb. 17.—Sharp opposition developed today over Great Britain's proposal to postpone a discussion of limitation of armament. Great Britain suggested yesterday that the conference be delayed until May 4 when America would be represented.

France, Spain and Czecho-Slovakia, in secret meeting today decided there should be no delay. Delegate Jouhaux of France criticized the United States.

"We cannot wait for America," he said, "adjourning until American co-operation is had is like being adjourned indefinitely."

Italy, Japan and Sweden supported the British proposal for an adjournment.

Sabotage Charged

Delegates representing small powers charged that Great Britain was "sabotaging" the conference. These delegates declared they favored an immediate discussion. They declared Great Britain was trying to put on the shoulders of America responsibility for a postponement. Any limitation in the manufacture of arms in the United States, they said, would require a constitutional amendment.

In view of this, they argued, there was no reason why Great Britain should not agree to a discussion at this time.

Death was caused by a hemorrhage shortly after Mr. Busch had retired for the night, and he was dead before medical aid could reach him.

Mr. Busch was born February 19, 1886, in Brooklyn N. Y., and would have been 39 years old next Thursday. He came to California six years ago and engaged in the chicken raising business until about a year ago, when he entered the construction business.

He was appointed postmaster by President Coolidge last month and the Verdugo City postoffice was officially opened on January 14. His wife, Mrs. Mathilda Busch, was named assistant postmaster at the time.

Name Substitute

Mr. Busch is survived by his widow, his daughter, Miss Florence Busch, a student at University of California, southern branch, and his father, Ernest R. Busch of Brooklyn. Funeral services have not been arranged, pending word from the father.

Mr. Busch was a director of the Verdugo City Association of Commerce, and at 8:30 o'clock this morning that body met in special session and drafted resolutions of sympathy and condolence to the widow. The directors of the Association of Commerce recommended that Mrs. Busch be named postmaster and her daughter appointed assistant postmaster, and a telegram to this effect was sent to Congressman Walter F. Lineberger.

Mrs. Busch and her daughter are staying at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Fowler, in Verdugo City, while funeral arrangements are being made.

MONTROSE NOTES

MONTROSE, Feb. 17.—Standing room only was the order at the performances given at the Montrose theatre on Friday night and Saturday matinee.

Great credit is due the teachers who gave not only of their school time, but outside hours to assist the mothers in making the clever costumes worn by the children. Each child was correctly dressed for the dances to the last wee patch on powdered cheek, the boys wearing resplendent buckles in keeping with the gorgeousness of the costumes, while both girls and boys were properly bewigged for the Virginia reel and minuet.

Opening the program the school orchestra of which La Crescenta is proud played "Over the Waves" and "The Dolls Dance." George Washington inspecting the flag with Betsy Ross was an impressive tableau with Marie Salsbury as the diminutive Betsy and Catherine Neff as Washington.

Like a scene from the early pages of American history was the minuet with the soft tones of the costumes blending with the stately measure of the graceful dance. The following children took part: Robert Stover, Leo Silver, Fred Starns, Paul Palmer, Richard Gushman, Marie Salsbury, Catherine Neff, Gene Osborne, Marion Hampson, Annabelle Watson, Bartheil Weaver and Edlen Allen.

A glimpse of old plantation days with a group of happy darkies singing old negro melodies made a hit with the audiences. The real old buck-and-wing dance done by one of the younger members "brought down the house." The Virginia reel showed the colored folks at play, the gay bandanas of the mammies making a brilliant bit of coloring in the picture including Arsthula Strong, Robert Keller, Robert Simpson, Glen Sanderson, Jack Mansergh, Virginia Howard, Elizabeth Brown, Marvell Latimer, Llywolaf Johns, Alice Starns, Virgil Collins, Helen Stover made realistic looking darkies. "Call to the colors" with Scoutmaster McCarton at the head in full uniform showed the splendid training the Montrose troop of Boy Scouts is receiving under the new captain. "America" was sung.

Of the picture of Lincoln probably everything possible has been said. The management of the Montrose theatre is to be complimented on the choice of pictures provided. Through the columns of this paper the Montrose P.-T. A. wish to thank the special committee on arrangements composed of: Mesdames D. Wetmore and M. N. Giess who solicited the printing for the programs and Mesdame K. Simpson, and Perry Fraser and all mothers who assisted. The teachers and P.-T. A. have been requested to prepare another program for the near future.

FROM EAGLE ROCK

EAGLE ROCK, Feb. 17.—Local residents are elated over the prospect of being on the main line of the proposed Colorado river aqueduct. A large outline map that recently made its official bow to the public, shows the aqueduct to enter California via Blythe, and to continue thence westward through Imperial valley, thence north of Riverside and on to Eagle Rock, where it will reach its highest level in this part of the state. From here the line will gradually drop down and serve the rest of Los Angeles and the surrounding sections.

The junior auxiliary of the Women's Twentieth Century club celebrated its first birthday Saturday afternoon at the home of the chairman, Mrs. Edward Thompson, of Ellenwood drive. Practically every member brought at least one guest. A number of games were enjoyed. It is planned to have a series of afternoon parties, one each month, to replace the morning business meetings of the past year.

E. W. Welty and Charles H. Blake, lieutenants of the Eagle Rock fire department, are now engaged in solving the intricacies of fire fighting problems from their various angles and sources. They are attending the Los Angeles fire department school of instruction which has been established within the past few months by Chief Ralph Scott of the Los Angeles fire department for the purpose of increasing its efficiency.

The World Service society of the Congregational church will meet at 2:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon, February 19, at the home of Mrs. Lawrence, 5034 Vincent avenue. Mrs. George D. Hale will present the program. All women of the church are cordially invited.

Street lights have been installed on Ridgeview avenue, from Eagle Rock boulevard east to the entrance of the Occidental college grounds.

Several commercial districts also were considered and laid over until next week. The meeting was held at the City Hall, Chairman T. W. Watson presiding.

Living Costs Up $10 Since One Year Ago

Apropos the subject of taxation, raised by the school bond election in Glendale today, and tritely touched upon by L. A. Hart in a communication to The Glendale Evening News yesterday, in which he related how the public does not vociferously protest increased prices of gasoline, transportation and telephone service, a Hollywood man has contributed some interesting figures.

Compared to a year ago, he is paying the milkman 4 cents more per day, the ice man 5 cents, the telephone company 15 cents on two phones, the street car company 8 cents, the baker 2 cents—and that isn't all—for the same service, if you please.

Yes, it costs $10 more a month now to live the life of a business man in the metropolis in a humble manner than it did one year ago.

BARBECUE AND INSPECTION OF PLANT

Event Planned for Thursday By Luncheon Club at Tropico Potteries

A free barbecue dinner and an inspection tour of the San Fernando valley's largest industrial plant will feature manufacturers' day to be staged under the auspices of the Greater Glendale Luncheon club on Thursday. Representatives of all the leading industries of the lower valley, including those of Burbank, Lankershim and San Fernando as well as of Glendale, will be guests at the Tropico Potteries on that day. Members of the luncheon club and citizens of Glendale as a whole are invited to join the industrial men in an inspection tour of the potteries and at dinner afterwards.

Charles B. Murphy of the potteries will conduct the tour through the plant, one of the most interesting and unique in Southern California. The inspection will commence at 11 o'clock. At 12:15 o'clock sharp a free barbecue dinner will be served by a Spanish cook brought to Glendale especially for the occasion.

Co-operating with the Glendale Chamber of Commerce in staging manufacturers' day is the industrial division of the Burbank chamber under C. W. Charlesville, secretary-manager. More than 300 persons are expected to attend the dinner when short talks will be made by representatives of the different communities of the valley.

REV. BROWN OPENS MORNING SERVICE

Last Words of Christ Are Taken as Text by Evangelist

Morning services at the Glendale union tabernacle under the direction of Evangelist John Brown commenced this morning with a large attendance. Services will be held between the hours of 10 and 12 o'clock each day with the exception of Saturday and Sunday. Mr. Brown took the last words of Christ as the basis of his sermon.

"In His last words Chist did not mention preaching, teaching or singing. A talking church is a church of power. Success of the church from its earliest history is largely traceable to the fact that every converted soul testified to his conversion. The greatest agency in the church is red-hot testimony from a red-hot, consistent Christian," the evangelist said.

"Am I My Brother's Keeper?" will be the topic of Mr. Brown's sermon tonight. Tomorrow night will be special church night.

Y.M.C.A. BUYS ADDITIONAL PROPERTY

Directors Purchase Parcel Adjoining Original Site Selected

Purchase of a plot of ground 50x150 feet, giving Glendale Y. M. C. A. control of the southeast corner of Wilson avenue and Louise street for addition to their building site, was announced by 'Y' directors today. The purchase of the corner from Mrs. Hattie Carney was completed late yesterday, President George McDill said.

The addition of the corner affords a building site of 200 feet fronting on Louise street and 150 feet on Wilson avenue, an ideal site and location, Mr. McDill said. The property runs back to a twenty-foot alley.

The acquisition of the corner lot came as a surprise, as no intimation that additional frontage was being sought had been previously given by the 'Y' directors. The original plot, 150 feet square and fronting on Louise street, was purchased from Miss Mary E. Chester several months ago ago, and plans for the erection of a building immediately commenced.

Plans Not Changed

Mr. McDill said that no alterations in original plans would be necessary as the additional purchase had been contemplated from the outset. The new building, to be four stories in height, will have an entrance from either street, one for men and one for boys.

The deal whereby the Y. M. C. A. comes into possession of the Carney property was handled by George H. Bentley, chairman of the site committee, C. D. Lusby, member of the committee and C. W. Ingledue, vice-president of the association.

ELKS TO SPONSOR BOY SCOUT TROOP

Glendale Lodge Takes Over Responsibility for New Detachment

Glendale Elks lodge, No. 1289, is to sponsor Troop 18, Glendale Boy Scouts, with H. W. McGuire as Scoutmaster. This was decided last night, when the 300 lodge members attending the weekly meeting at the clubhouse on East Colorado street, heard an address by Harvey R. Cheesman, local Scout executive, and witnessed Scout demonstrations by six first-class Scouts.

Mr. Cheesman was introduced by Earl C. Patterson, exalted ruler. The Scouts giving demonstrations were James Ramey, Carter Booth, Charles Kausen, Theron Ramey, Gurdon Wattles and Clair Bentley. They gave the fireman's drag, fireman's life, artificial respiration, making of a coat stretcher and signalling. In closing they gave the pledge to the American flag and led in singing "The Star Spangled Banner."

The Scout committee of the lodge composed of William Hunter, chairman, Exalted Ruler Patterson, Dr. John Anderson, Harold Nuzum, Secretary Walter Jones and Jesse Hadley will lay final plans for the institution of the troop and the first meeting will take place at the Elks' lodge Thursday night. More than a dozen boys have already been enrolled.

Correct Position in Riding

FRED ST. ONGE, of the Cycle Trades of America, showing the right way to peddle a bicycle in safety. He will be in charge of the "Safety First" demonstration and bicycle carnival Saturday morning at Harvard High school grounds.

What promises to be a big "Safety First" bicycle parade and the biggest event of its kind ever scheduled for next Saturday morning. Local bicycle dealers in conjunction with the Cycle Trades of America, will stage a demonstration, as announced yesterday. Fred St. Onge, known the world over as an expert cyclist, is to direct the affair and will head the pageant mounted on a bicycle he has ridden in nearly every large city of the universe.

The parade and carnival in conjunction will be held on the grounds of the Harvard High school, where there are seats free for spectators and ample room for the riders to display their ability as cyclists. Mr. St. Onge will deliver a talk along safety lines and appropriately demonstrate to the youth of today the correct way to ride a bicycle in congested streets.

As added features to the prize awards for decorated wheels there will be a scooter race for the little fellows and a plank riding contest for the regular bike riders.

Among the leading bicycle dealers co-operating in promoting this "Safety First" demonstration are: Marlett Brothers and J. F. Mathews.

"We want the participants, and particularly the parents of the youngsters, to understand that this bicycle parade is in no way a racing event," says St. Onge. "It is simply a ride for the purpose of stimulating interest in the healthful sport of cycling and fostering its development under competent supervision, and to create a sense of justice that the bicycle rider rightfully deserves."

All those having bicycles regardless of age and whether or not the machines are ancient in style, are urged to bring them out and take part in the affair, Mr. St. Onge says. 10:30 o'clock will be the starting time for the various events.

In the parade Saturday it will not be necessary to register, and there is no entry fee. All you need is to have a bicycle and the inclination to ride it and probably win a prize. Tomorrow announcement will be made of over forty prizes to be given to riders in different divisions.

SCHOOL TESTS SHOW CITY LEADING

Handwriting of Fifth Grade Magnolia Branch Ranks First In Country

The fifth grade at the Magnolia school has scored a national record in handwriting, reaching a quality score of 70 per cent, which is higher than that reported for any school in any other city in the United States. This statement is contained in a report rendered to Superintendent Richardson D. White of Glendale city schools, by J. Harold Williams, psychologist retained through the Educational Service bureau of the University of California, Southern branch.

Mr. Williams is conducting his tests with the co-operation of a committee comprising the principals of the two intermediate and ten elementary schools of the city. The committee meets Wednesday afternoon from 3 until 5 o'clock, each week at the Glendale Intermediate school, when reports are heard and analyzed by the psychologist.

This is part of the program of the Los Angeles Diagnostic clinic, established by the Southern branch of the state university, for the purpose of developing higher educational standards among children.

Glendale Standard

The activities of Mr. Williams and his committee during the past year, have included the gathering of data on age-grades at the various local schools, social composition, estimate of intelligence, estimates of conduct, handwriting surveys based on the Ayers scale, spelling surveys on the Ayers scale, advisory work on individual cases and publication of a monthly bulletin.

"The handwriting survey was made in the fourth, fifth and sixth grades," says Mr. Williams, "tests being conducted to determine speed and quality of writing. The results indicate that the Glendale schools stand well in comparison, grade for grade, with the schools of other cities, and are complimentary to the administration and instruction provided in the Glendale city schools."

Pre-War Gold Value Aim Of French Franc

PARIS, Feb. 17.—Determination to restore the franc to its pre-war gold value was voiced today by all speakers in the Chamber of Deputies. Jacques Dubois prescribed progressive deflation as the only remedy.

"France's internal debt is 277,000,000,000 francs, of which two-thirds will mature within the year," he said.

He closed with a warning to Finance Minister Clementel not to "wait for a miracle to occur to enable you to meet the payments."

Clementel told the deputies it would be impossible to restore the franc "by decrees" but that the only method was "by increasing production and creating economic improvement."

MEMORIAL TO L. C. BRAND PLANNED

Citizens of Northwest Will Move to Erect Tablet To Benefactor

Citizens of Northwest Glendale, "neighbors" of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Brand, will take the initiative in raising a sum sufficient to erect a bronze likeness of Mr. Brand in the 800-acre mountain park, which he recently gave to the city. Such a token of appreciation of this greatest of municipal gifts is being advocated by a group of prominent residents of the northwest.

Chief among these is Alex Mitchell, president of the Foothill Improvement association. If plans of Mr. Mitchell carry, the first portion of a $25,000 fund for the purpose will be raised by members of his association and the Greater Northwest Improvement association, a sister organization.

Though no formal steps have been taken, the matter will be brought up at the next meetings of these associations and organized effort doubtlessly determined upon. Much enthusiasm over the idea, first propounded by Mr. Mitchell, has already been expressed. Mr. Mitchell's plan would be to solicit subscriptions of $25 from 1000 public-spirited persons.

THE USE OF SLANG

Philologists and educators are getting excited again over the growing use of the word "aint." The fight against this contraction or coinage has been long and consistent, but it has been an unsuccessful fight and the word will some day take its place in the dictionary as perfectly good English, the horror of the pedants notwithstanding. Words whose origins are not aristocratic and whose forms are not elegant have a way of doing that very thing, when they seem to be useful.

We were surprised to note in an article by Ida Clyde Clark, well-known editor and clubwoman, this expression: "Life insurance companies are, strictly speaking, hard-boiled commercial institutions." We have never considered "hard-boiled" good English except as it is used in connection with eggs. But we must admit it is expressive and its use by such a writer as Mrs. Clark will tend to give it dignity and a place in the dictionary.

Slang is a characteristic of this country, although other nations use it, too. We are humorists and we like short-cuts, so we are constantly coining new and expressive terms. Those which are interesting and seem to fill a need, such as "up against it," "down and out," "double-cross," "put it over," "get it across," "nothing doing," and the like, will remain in the language.

Someone defines slang as something more than dialect and something less than finished speech. It is democratic, picturesque, amusing and has the advantage of brevity. Slang is defended because it is honest and ingenuous. It does not pretend to be what it is not. It is a thing of creative impulse and not the result of centuries of polish, like purely intellectual phrases. Slang is genial and not pompous.

Of course there are various kinds of slang. Coarse and disgusting vulgarities have no place in our language. Picturesque and expressive slang has, but there is a grave danger of using it too profusely and giving it undue prominence in speech and in writing, and this misuse of slang brands the user as being ignorant of his own language.

Our language has been and is being constantly enriched by the addition of new words. Those who shudder at the thought of a slang phrase being incorporated in the language and being sanctioned as good English should go back to Chaucer and Spenser. They will find that the virile, meaningful words that have been added to the English language since the days of those writers have not spoiled our mother tongue.

ANCIENT CUSTOMS

With greater and greater insistence comes the demand that the "lame duck" session of Congress be dispensed with. The time between the election in November and the inauguration in March is practically wasted as far as Congress is concerned. If we were as quick to make changes that would increase the efficiency of government agencies as we are to adopt new methods in private business enterprises, Congress would show greater results at less expense.

Dates for the inauguration of the president and the convening of the new Congress were set in Washington's time and they were set approximately four months after the election because means of communication and travel demanded this interval to spread the news of the election and bring the new Congressmen to Washington. In these days when we know, no matter in what part of the country we happen to be, who is elected almost as soon as the polls have been closed, and when the farthest corner of the country is only a few days away from Washington, there is no possible excuse for an out-going Congress, which the people have just discharged, to meet and pass laws.

This "lame duck" session is unfair both to the president and to the people. The proposals made by the president in his annual message deserve consideration by Congress, but they should be passed upon by the newly-elected Congress, which is presumably in sympathy with the administration.

Choosing the president and vice-president by means of the electoral college is another cumbersome and antiquated custom that should be abolished. On the evening of November 4, 1924, everyone knew who had been elected. But several weeks later a committee travels to Washington and informs the candidates of their success, and on the eleventh of this month the electoral college convened and formally elected Coolidge and Dawes. This custom also originated somewhere in the dark ages and answers no sane purpose in this day of rapid communication and travel.

One hopeful sign is that the people are beginning to take notice of these things and demand a change. And only public sentiment can bring about the needed reform.

INAUGURATION ECONOMY

President Coolidge's determination to keep the expenses of the inauguration down to the minimum may lose him a few friends among the elite at Washington, but throughout the country his attitude only serves to increase his popularity. Coolidge talked economy before the election, but we have become so accustomed to having campaign promises forgotten after the day of election, that the country is a little surprised to see him really practice economy.

The president vetoed an inauguration ball and will not be present at the charity ball that is to be given in its stead, although Vice-President and Mrs. Dawes will, by their presence, give official sanction to the affair. Other than providing accommodations for the thousands who will wish to witness the inauguration ceremonies the president has cancelled most of the plans that were made which involved expense.

SPEAKING OF WHITE HOUSE BREAKFASTS—

The Blind Man With a Gun

By DR. FRANK CRANE

Sincerity and devotion to a single aim are good. But when these are accompanied by ignorance it is like a blind man with a gun.

It is well to be earnest, and you cannot accomplish much unless you are wholly devoted to some principle, but if you are ignorant at the same time you are a blind man with a gun.

Mr. Bryan is doubtless sincere in his opposition to evolution.

It is well for a man to say as William Lloyd Garrison, "I must and will be heard." But he is of value only when he stands for the truth.

Doubtless many in Russia are in earnest. Doubtless the Bolsheviks, Communists and anarchists, many of them, are sincere. They are blind men with a gun.

The purpose of education and learning what the past has to say to us is largely to remove the blindfold from our eyes.

Anyone can be in earnest, but it takes time and patience to become informed. Earnestness is only good when it is added to knowledge.

Those who can see, that is those who are informed and in possession of the truth, should be armed to protect themselves and the innocent bystanders against the shooting that often takes place among the uninformed.

Intelligence persists. Truth is might and will prevail. Wrong fails eventually.

But all this does not prevent that which is evil from doing much harm when it is in possession of the means of force.

The hordes of Germans and Austrians were doubtless very sincere in the late war, but they were not informed.

It is not man's first duty to be honest and candid. It is his first duty to inform himself. Honesty and candor are of no value in an ignorant man.

No man has been able to calculate the damage that is done by ignorance. It has destroyed the lives of thousands, it has encouraged pests, it has been fatal to nations.

The time was when people used to gather in the churches and pray against the advance of a pestilence. Nowadays they use carbolic acid. One is earnestness without information and the other is based upon actual knowledge.

It makes no difference what a fine and noble character the captain of a ship may have unless he is master of the art of navigation. It makes no difference how grand and noble a general may be if he does not understand the art of war.

Horoscope

Uncommonly good luck appears to attend this day, according to astrologers. Venus, Mercury and Jupiter in benefic aspect dominate.

Above all else this should be a happy wedding day, for it promises fair fortunes as well as abiding love.

For those who woo instead of marry a lucky engagement is prognosticated, for there is to be an excess of devotion on the part of men who are betrothed.

This should be an important sway for women in all lines of professional and business life. Many will attain to high place, especially in medicine and law.

There is a sign of big promise to writers of fiction, and new authors will make big hits, if the stars are read aright.

Mercury gives hope today to those who have had bills to collect, for they should receive money at this time.

This should be an exceedingly good day for engineers and contractors; great pieces of construction work will be undertaken this year, and there should be much activity among all who contribute to such enterprises.

Energy, ambition, pluck and perseverance are supposed to be stimulated while this planetary government rules.

Jupiter foreshadows increased power and prosperity for bankers and financiers, who will accomplish great things this year.

Provision dealers and commercial men may plan for extreme activity at this time, which should bring much trade from unexpected sources.

The seers prophesy for American women new fame as the possessors of extraordinary beauty. Actresses are to win world acclaim.

The partial eclipse of the Moon, which took place on the eighth of this month, indicates disputes in parliament and new troubles for England.

Persons whose birthday it is have a fortunate outlook for the year which should bring much profit in financial affairs.

Children born on this day probably will have much talent for music and a generally artistic temperament.

Today's Poem

A LIFE ON THE OCEAN WAVE

A life on the ocean wave,
A home on the rolling deep;
Where the scatter'd waters rave
And the winds their revels keep!
Like an eagle caged I pine
On this dull, unchanging shore;
Oh, give me the flashing brine,
The spray and the tempest's roar!

Once more on the deck I stand,
Of my own swift-gliding craft;
Set sail! farewell to the land;
The gale follows fair abaft.
We shoot through the sparkling foam,
Like an ocean-bird set free
Like the ocean-bird, our home
We'll find far out on the sea.

The land is no longer in view,
The clouds have begun to frown;
But with a stout vessel and crew,
We'll say, let the storm come down!
And the song of our hearts shall be,
While the winds and the waters rave,
A home on the rolling sea!
A life on the ocean wave!

—Epes Sargent.

Another mean person has been discovered. Frank Balthis, who sells one of the Los Angeles papers at Brand boulevard and Broadway and also has charge of the rack at First and Doran streets, reports that money was stolen from the box three mornings last week.

The Best of Advice

By CLARK KINNARD

What scientists and farmers and stock-breeders have known for several thousand years has lately begun to be discovered generally: That heredity dominates, to a large extent, every living thing.

More particularly, the sum of tendencies to act in a certain way, which we call "character," is often to be traced through a long series of progenitors and collaterals.

It is becoming more and more apparent to the masses that it is extremely uncivilized of a so-called civilized people to believe that hurling criminals into earthly reproductions of hell is a better way of ridding them of wrongful desires than treating them as if they were sick persons, victims of the mental illnesses of their ancestors.

* * *

But while this new urge to blame heredity for everything is permeating the land, it should be remembered that in a large proportion of cases, crime and pauperism have nothing to do with heredity; but are the consequences, partly of circumstances and partly of the possession of qualities, which, under different conditions of life, might have excited esteem and even admiration.

It was a shrewd man of the world who, in discussing sewage problems, remarked that dirt is riches in the wrong place: And that sound aphorism has moral applications.

The benevolence and open-handed generosity of a rich man make a pauper of a poor one; the energy and courage to which the successful soldier owes his rise, the cool and daring subtlety to which the great financier of Wall Street owes his fortune, may easily, under unfavorable circumstances, lead their possessors to the electric chair.

Moreover, it is fairly probable that the children of a "failure" will receive from their parents just that little modification of character which makes all the difference.

* * *

"I sometimes wonder," Huxley wrote, "whether people who talk so freely about extirpating the unfit, ever dispassionately consider their own history.

"Surely, one must be very 'fit' indeed not to know of an occasion, or perhaps two, in one's life, when it would have been only too easy to qualify for a place among the 'unfit'."

* * *

Yet everyone of us does bear upon him the obvious marks of his parentage, perhaps of remoter relationships. "Good breeding" is still an asset, despite a tendency among Americans to ignore the fact.

Who's Who

While the wartime commander of England's "grand fleet" is considering his retirement shortly, at the youthful age of 53, he is being accused, in a book recently published, of having a part in the failure of the British fleet to annihilate the German fleet at the battle of Jutland.

Beatty's friends suggest that Jellicoe, then in supreme command, and not Beatty erred at Jutland.

As a tactician Beatty generally disregarded text books, and his famous, though much disputed and probably somewhat insubordinate, signal at the Battle of Jutland caught the popular imagination as few things since Nelson's "England expects, etc." message. The official text of the Beatty signal has never been available, but it was popularly understood to have been: "Follow me, we have got them stone cold."

Jellicoe, who was in supreme command, did not "follow me," but there are many who think that, if he had done so, Jutland might have been turned into a complete naval debacle for Germany.

Son and grandson of naval officers, Beatty went to sea at the age of thirteen and reached the highest rank in the British navy—admiral of the fleet—at the unprecedently early age of 48.

He was one of the youngest admirals ever created in the British navy, reaching the rank of rear admiral at the age of 39, through sheer merit and fighting service in all parts of the world. He earned high honors with the naval brigade in the Soudan in 1896-98, proving himself as capable a commander and personal fighter on land as afloat.

Countess Beatty, who was Ethel Marshall Field of Chicago, has many friends among British society. The couple have two sons, the elder of whom, Viscount Borodale, 19, has followed his father's footsteps and is a midshipman in the British navy.

While Beatty, who now holds the post of first sea lord of the admiralty, the highest naval rank obtainable in Great Britain, may be offered a colonial governorship, it is considered more probable that he will prefer to settle down at his Leicestershire home.

Thriller's Leading Woman

MARY WORTH, of the Dobinson Players, who is seen in a leading role in the mystery drama which opened at the Playhouse last night. Miss Worth received many compliments for her role as the divorced wife in "Wedding Bells," the Players' offering which terminated last week.

ANOTHER 'BAT' IS PLAYERS' NEW ONE

'Night Call' Thrills Large Audience for Opening At Playhouse

Storms, and the doing of dark deeds, have always been associated in the minds of men.

It was to the accompaniment of crashing thunder, jagged lightning and the lash of rain that Alice Dodge found herself isolated in the old mansion on the storm-swept New Jersey coast the night Richardson was murdered.

If her car had not broken down she would not have been there, in which case she would have missed one of the weirdest experiences which ever fell to the lot of any woman; she would never have known the man from out the storm, who stepped through the window and into her heart.

The wavering cry of "The Night Call" held them both in its grip, but out of the dark, and the storm, and the horror of that night, came a most wonderful love romance, which thrilled the audience that filled the Playhouse Theatre last night to witness Glendale's premiere of this mystery-drama.

Compared to "Bat"

"The Night Call," presented by the Dobinson Players, shares honors with "The Bat" as being one of the two greatest mystery plays ever written. In the presentation by the Dobinson company, acknowledged by critics to be one of the cleverest stock companies in America, every thrill, every element of suspense and mystery was given its full value.

Laid against a background of mystery and intrigue, "The Night Call" is a page out of the lives of the powerful clique which controls international rum-running on the Atlantic coast. The ruthless power which this clique exerts, its ramifications and the channels through which it works, are shown for the first time on the stage.

The plot centres around the death in the old mansion, the night of the storm, of Captain Richardson, of the revenue service. To all appearances Alice Dodge was the only other person in the house that night—but would she have killed him? Hardly probable, for he was her fiance. But the U. S. Secret Service is without sentiment; suspicion falls on her, but succeeding developments in the case cause suspicion to attach to almost every member of the cast. It is this clever concealment of the identity of the real slayer which has placed "The Night Call" at the head of all other plays of the kind.

Right Guess Awarded

Last night's audience found it an exciting sport to guess before the conclusion of the play the identity of the killer. The Playhouse management handed around printed slips on which the guesses were recorded and returned to the ushers with the seat stub attached. Florence Dobinson has explained that the person making a guess may credit that guess to himself or any other person of his choice. The guesses will be counted and the person found to have the highest number of correct ones credited to him at the end of the week will be presented with a twenty-dollar bill next Monday night.

The cast for "The Night Call" includes Mary Worth, as Alice Dodge, William H. Stephens as the man from out the storm. Laura Winston as Martha Stuart Scott, Richard Ehlers as Jerry Thompson, Mary Isabelle Alpaugh as Mollie Braden, David M. Collis as George Dodge, William Chapman as Bob Braden, Joseph McManus as Edward Howe and William Challee as the other man.

Laborer Wins $20,000,000 Copper Suit

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 17.—In a cheap room in a sailors' boarding house on the waterfront, George Campbell Carson prepared his own breakfast today on the little oil stove that serves to heat the room, according to custom.

The fact that he had won his law suit against the big copper companies for royalties and damages aggregating $20,000,000 did not disturb the calm of this working man who lone handed has battled eighteen years to win recognition for his patent devices universally used by copper companies.

A laborer when he made the invention, Carson has worked through the years in order to fight his claims.

Valley Citizens Give Opinions on Bonds

Residents of the La Crescenta valley express their opinions on the proposed school bond issues in the following letters:

I am in favor of the high school bonds and strongly in favor of running our own grammar schools. I speak both as business man and the parent of two high school pupils.

C. L. MEAD, Director,
Montrose Chamber of Commerce.

I am in favor of the high school bonds and believe they should have the support of every voter in this district.

A. V. ADKINS.

It is my opinion that the high school bonds should carry as presented by the Glendale Union High school board. Every citizen who has the educational welfare of this valley at heart will support these bonds by his vote. I make this assertion from the standpoint of a parent of three children, one now attending the Glendale High school. In this connection I am strongly convinced that we should continue to control our elementary schools through our board of trustees.

C. J. REINHARD,
School Trustee, and Director
Montrose Chamber of Commerce.

The school bonds should be passed and action on consolidation can be taken up at a later date.

L. H. MERRITT,
Montrose State Bank.

This is to certify that I am in favor of the high school bonds, and urge all the people in our valley to come to the polls today and vote "yes."

MARK COLLINS.

I am in favor of the bands, and I think the time to vote the bonds and buy a local site is now. The question of consolidating the school systems by annexing to the Glendale schools is not the question at present. What we want are the bonds.

THEODORE BELANGER.

The La Crescenta Parent-Teacher association realizes that unless the work in our grammar schools is carried through the high school, it is unfinished. Therefore, we endorse the high school bonds and are using every effort possible to get voters to the polls.

MRS. C. W. ANGIER,
President, La Crescenta Parent-Teacher Association.

I favor the Glendale High school bonds. The matter of consolidation of Glendale school boards should be given careful study and, if possible, a feasible plan worked out, leaving our own grammar schools and trustees undisturbed.

H. N. FOWLER,
President, Verdugo City Association of Commerce.

Woman Sues Police Chief For Damages

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 17.—Alleging that a description of herself in a police bulletin in which authorities were stated to be searching for her and her daughter, Helen T. O'Rourke, had injured her, Mrs. Katherine C. Iten of Omaha today filed suit in the United States district court against Chief of Police R. Lee Heath, et al, seeking $100,000. Mrs. Iten charged describing her as having a "hard, hatchet face," had damaged her social position.

Official Is Honored By Knights Templar

Perry W. Weidner, past grand commander of California and grand senior warden of the grand encampment of the United States, was the guest of honor of Glendale Knights Templar last night. Mr. and Mrs. Weidner were first guests at a 6:30 o'clock dinner at the Masonic temple that was attended by all Templars and their wives. Later the distinguished knight took charge of exemplification of the Order of Temple on Stephen and Don Packer, father and son. He was assisted in the ritualistic work by past commanders of Glendale Commandery.

During the initiatory services wives of the Templars enjoyed a theatre party at the Playhouse, where they witnessed the current production of the Dobinson Players. In an address at the dinner, Mr. Weidner extolled the influences of Masonry on the peace of the nation and paid high tribute to the efforts of Glendale Masonic organizations to secure a new temple here. Mrs. W. W. Worley, wife of Commander Worley, and Mrs. Roy V. Hogue were in charge of the dinner and theatre party arrangements.

Women's Athletic Club Holds Monthly Meeting

The monthly meeting of the Women's Athletic club of Glendale was held last night, after the gymnasium class at Harvard High school, with Mrs. J. H. Toal, president, presiding. Several applications for membership were read. Mrs. Virginia Reed Farr, chairman of the hiking section, invited members to a luncheon tomorrow at her cabin in Tujunga. Members planning to attend will leave the Harvard High school at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Farr at Glendale 2975-J or Mrs. Toal at Glendale 2128-M. Plans were discussed for an ice-skating party, and arrangements will be made at the meeting of the gymnasium class next Monday night. New classes in swimming and golf are being formed this week, and anyone interested should get in touch with Mrs. R. E. Corrigan at Glendale 211-W, if interested in golf, and with Mrs. George G. Smith at Glendale 349, if interested in swimming.

The Cane Taps

John Graham, junior partner in the long-established law firm of Graham, Keith and Graham, was not given to profanity; he regarded an oath as he might a split infinitive or an unfathered pronoun—a thing unpleasant to the ear. But when he found himself in an unknown part of the city with exactly $1.25 in his pocket, his sole defense against the pangs of hunger, the primitive man in him broke through the bonds of a Puritan past and a puristic present. Roundly and loudly he swore. The shade of his great-grandmother, cousin to Cotton Mather, shuddered.

The explosion, however, did her descendent good. Custom had not staled for him its nameless satisfaction. It dispelled, not only his annoyance over his present predicament, but also the ferment aroused in him by a letter from his fiancee, Marian Kingsbury, abruptly breaking their engagement. She had written with brutal frankness that he was beginning to bore her. He was too normal, too untemperamental, she had discovered, to be really interesting. Being herself nothing if not temperamental, she had written in the first instant of realization to inform him that, as the old phrase went, all was over between them. Needless to say, she put it much more modernly, in clever phrases which stung.

John Graham had received the letter at the moment when, having tossed his purse on the table, he was beginning to dress for dinner. It was Miss Kingsbury's letter, therefore, which was responsible for his empty pockets. He had read it, his pulses throbbing with an emotion he did not stop to define; had crushed it into a shapeless wad and flung it violently into the fire. Then, giving no thought to his purse, he had rushed out into the chill of the night to walk off the fierce heat roused in him by her note, and had gone striding on and on, till all sense of locality was lost, fighting—what? Heartbreak? He laughed as he asked himself the question. No, by heaven, no! Not heartbreak—rage! Good, hot, primitive rage!

His heart, of course, ought to have been broken. It surprised him to discover that it was not. His passion for her, he now saw, had been a quick fire of straw kept alive from day to day with handfuls of fresh fuel. When she ceased to feed the flame it died; when she quenched it there remained not even an ember. He stirred the ashes to make sure. No, not even an ember glowed. He was free of the obession of months. His house was swept and garnished, ready for the coming of demon or angel. He stretched his arms wide and laughed. He was not even angry any more; he was simply hungry. Dinner was his immediate problem.

He glanced around to get his bearings. Featureless rows of dull brown houses, some of them gone genteelly and ineffectually into business on the parlor floor, stretched away indefinitely on either hand. He had evidently wandered far from his usual haunts. No taxi came chugging cheerfully to his rescue; no clang of even a distant trolley reached him. The only figure in the deserted street was that of a man whose hurrying step sounded as indiscreetly loud in the silence as an audible tone at a funeral. A single spot of light a little farther down the block alone broke the prevailing gloom of the curtained windows. Graham instinctively made his way toward it, drawn to the light like a moth to a gas jet.

The house from which the light shone was like the rest—brown and elderly, but alive; an uncanny feeling came over Graham that the others were not. The uncurtained windows permitted a view of white-napped tables, and a vision of many heads. A placard at the door informed a hungry and impecunious world that at the sign of the Fleur-de-Lys one dined for the modest sum of seventy-five cents. Obviously the place for him.

While he still hesitated, the man who was hurrying down the street from the opposite direction, and whose curiously halting, limping step, and the sharp tap, tapping of whose cane had attracted his attention, reached the restaurant and began to ascend the steep stoop with the assured manner of an habitue.

"What sort of a meal do they give you here?" Graham called to him.

The man paused. "What do you expect for seventy-five cents?" he demanded.

"Nothing."

"Then you will be disappointed—pleasantly," the newcomer replied, and went on.

Graham followed.

As the two stood together for a moment in the narrow hall, waiting for their coat checks, Graham, throwing a careless glance over the individual beside him, received the impression of a slight, dark, youngish man of his own class, dressed in well-cut, shabby clothes, and feverishly impatient. The hand which he thrust out time and again for his check was scarred as by a burn.

"Come, come, I have an appointment, I shall be late!" he exclaimed.

At that moment a party of men and girls burst out from the dining-room and crowded up in front of the counter.

"But each in turn, gentlemen, each in turn!" the girl in charge cried, distractedly.

HOW TO SOLVE THE CROSS WORD PUZZLE

The way to solve the Cross Word Puzzle is to fill in the white squares of the diagram with the words which agree with the accompanying definitions. The definitions are numbered to correspond with the numbers on the diagram. Any word defined in the text under "HORIZONTAL" will begin at its number, shown on the diagram, and will extend all the way across to the first black space to the right of that number. That is, the word must begin in the square that contains its identifying number, and extend as far as the white squares continue uninterruptedly. Any word defined under "VERTICAL" will also begin in the white space that contains its number, but will extend downward as far as the white spaces remain uninterruptedly.

THE GATEWAY

James Kirkwood, the capable screen star, recently experienced all the comforts—or should it be discomforts—of Pullman transportation without moving off the Paramount studio in Hollywood.

In "The Top of the World," which George Melford produced from the novel of the same name by Ethel M. Dell, Kirkwood portrays a dual role. During the filming of this picture he was required to make frequent changes of costume and makeup from one character to the other. So the carpenter shop built him a dressing room on wheels which could be moved rapidly wherever he happened to be working.

Incidentally, picture-goers will be amazed and mystified when they see this photoplay on the local screen. Seemingly impossible things happen. Kirkwood, in his impersonation of the two characters, shakes hands with himself fights with himself and at all times passes himself in the same strip of film.

Besides Kirkwood, the excellent cast includes Anna Q. Nilsson, Raymond Hatton and Sheldon Lewis in featured roles. "The Top of the World" together with an unusual bill of select vaudeville for Wednesday only.

DOBINSON PLAYERS

"Who Killed Richardson?" This question seems to be in the minds and on the tongues of most of the residents of Glendale, Tujunga, Verdugo City, Hollywood, Rosemont and other neighboring communities since the Playhouse theatre management announced last week that a cash prize would be awarded the person gathering in the largest number of correct guesses this week.

The killing of Richardson is the hub around which revolves the great mystery-drama, "The Night Call," this week's offering at the Playhouse theatre, Glendale, by the Dobinson Players. The identity of the slayer is so well concealed, even until the end of the play, that the house has offered prizes for the two persons gathering in the largest numbers of correct guesses by the end of the week. A first prize of $20 and a second prize of a season's pass for two to the theatre are offered.

Leaders in the contest for the first two days will appear in The Glendale News tomorrow.

UNCLE WIGGILY

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND JOHNNIE'S SEEDS

Outside of Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow grew a tall apple tree. Near the very top of the tree some old, dried apples hung. The apples were so high that, in the summer, no one had cared to climb after to pick them. Now it was winter, the apples were withered and shriveled, but inside each one were many ripe, brown seeds, almost as good as chestnuts.

"Do you want those old apples and their seeds that grow in your apple tree?" asked a Blue Jay bird of the rabbit gentleman one day, when snow covered the earth and food was hard to find.

"The apples are of no use to me," answered the bunny gentleman with a kindly twinkle of his pink nose. "I can't even reach them."

"Then I'll take them," said the Blue Jay bird. So all winter long, each day, the bird flew up into the tree and ate a few apple seeds, which kept him from starving.

Now it happened one day, when Uncle Wiggily had gone to the store for Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy' that Johnnie Bushytail, the squirrel boy, scampered past the hollow stump bungalow. Johnnie was hungry, for there were not many nuts left in the hollow tree where he lived with his brother Billie, and the father and mother squirrels.

"You can not have as many nuts as you want," said Mrs. Bushytail to the squirrel boys. "We have hardly enough to keep us in food for the rest of the winter. So eat just as little as you can."

So you see why Johnnie was hungry, and as he scampered over the snow, toward Uncle Wiggily's bungalow, Johnnie said to himself:

"I will ask Nurse Jane for something to eat. She will give me a carrot or cookie."

But in front of the bunny's bungalow Johnnie saw the tree, with the dried, withered apples near the top.

"Hurray!" chattered the squirrel boy. "Those apples have seeds in them. Seeds are almost as good to eat as nuts. I'll get them!"

Up the tree scrambled the little fellow. He pulled off an apples in his paws, and, sitting across a tree branch on his thick tail, like a cushion, Johnnie nibbled the seeds out of the apple.

Just as he was having a grand time all by himself along came flying the Blue Jay bird.

"Hay! Hay! Hay! screamed the bird. "You are eating my apple seeds!"

"These aren't your seeds!" chattered Johnnie.

"Yes, they are, Uncle Wiggily gave them to me!" chattered the Jay. There's Uncle Wiggily now, in his bungalow door. Ask him if he didn't give me the seeds in these old apples."

"Yes, Johnnie, I did," answered the bunny gentleman, when the squirrel boy had asked the question.

"There! What did I tell you?" screamed the Blue Jay bird. And now, for taking my apple seeds, Johnnie the squirrel, I'm going to nip your tail!"

The bird made a swoop for the squirrel boy, but Johnnie gave a flying leap out of the tree down into a drift of snow near Uncle Wiggily's bungalow steps.

"I'll get you " cried the bird, flying down.

But just as the Blue Jay was going to nip Johnnie's tail, out of the bushes sprang the Fuzzy Fox to nibble Uncle Wiggily's ears. And, seeing the Fox, the Blue Jay said:

"I'll nip your tail, Mr. Fox, and let Johnnie go. After all, you are worse than he is!" So the Blue Jay swooped at the Fox and the bad chap was so frightened at the screaming bird that away he ran, and so he didn't nibble the bunny after all.

Then the bird laughed, seeing the Fox run away, and the Blue Jay said:

"I'll forgive you for taking my seeds, Johnnie. After all, there are more than I need. Have another apple."

So the squirrel boy took some seeds home to his brother Billie and Uncle Wiggily sent a piece of cabbage cake to Mrs. Bushytail. So everybody was happy except the Fox. And if the egg beater doesn't hang a slice of Swiss cheese up in front of the window for a lace curtain, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and Billie's bag.

Diet And Health

By LULU HUNT PETERS, M. D.

TOO-TOO-THIN? (Part 2)

In a delightful old book, Wadd on "Corpulency," published in 1760, there is a short chapter on how to gain. In that chapter Mr. Wadd says that when The Spectator, a London publication, was first published, the following advertisement appeared:

"An assured cure for Leanness which proceeds from a cause which few know, but easily removed by an unparalleled specific tincture, which fortifies the stomach, purifies the blood, takes off fretfulness of the mind, occasions rest and easy sleep, and as certainly disposes and causes the body to thrive and become plump and fleshy if no manifest distemper afflicts the patient, as water will quench fire, and it is pleasant to the taste and is sold only in Mr. Payne's toy-shop, price 3 shillings a bottle with directions."

Do you want an assured cure for leanness?

Notice the different things that this unparalleled specific tincture promised to do. They are quite significant.

First, you should have a thorough physical examination by a competent physician to see if there is no "manifest distemper" afflicting you and causing your thinness. If you have, that must be attended to before you can hope to gain. It may be possible that you are chronically poisoned from diseased tonsils, bad teeth, diseased nasal sinues, or other spots of infection elsewhere in the body.

Now we will suppose that you have had this done and the doctor said that there is nothing organically wrong with you. Obviously, as the advertisement says, you have got to do something to fortify your stomach, purify your blood, get rid of the fretfulness of your mfnd and have more rest and easy sleep. You are going to be able to do all of these things by increasing your intake of food. As I told you yesterday, you are not eating enough for your needs, and you are undoubtedly suffering from a degree of acidosis, autointoxication and a couple other things.

It may be true that you think you are eating more than your fat sister, but in this matter of eating, each person is a law unto himself, because no two persons have exactly the same physical makeup or the same activities. Besides, the chances are that you don't eat more than your sister; you do not eat nearly so much. You can't tell what she eats between meals! It is a safe wager that you don't eat anything between meals because you don't care about eating. It isn't one of your interests in life. Too bad.

Another thing, you cannot tell whether you are eating more or less than someone else, unless you count the food by its caloric value.

"What! Have I got to count calories, too?" Yes, in order to gain, you have to know the caloric value of foods, just as your fat sister does, but instead of decreasing your calories, as she should you have to increase them.

Instead of shrinking your stomach, you have to stretch it so that it will be able to care for sufficient food for your needs. Your stomach is contracted, no doubt, else you would not feel so full after two or three mouthfuls of food.

First, are you sure you are underweight for normal? You want to remember that underweight for the average, after 40, is normal, because the averages are made up of a great many more overweighters than underweighters, because three-quarters (or more) of our adult population is overweight. The averages are usually taken from insurance statistics and it has been found by the insurance companies that those who are underweight for the average, after 40, are healthier and have a longer life expectancy.

Now perhaps you have not followed our reducing series, so here's a little rule to determine average weight.

Multiply number of inches over five feet in height, in stocking feet, by five and one-half. Add 110. If under five feet, multiply number of inches under five feet by five and one-half and subtract your calories.

My Dear Followers:—When sending for material which we offer you please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible; if they are of general interest. Don't forget the s.a.s.e., if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

Chats On Beauty

By EDNA KENT FORBES

ANSWERED LETTERS

E. J. F.—From the description of your skin I am wondering if you have been using something that disagreed with it. Stop using rouge, or any other cosmetics, take a full hot bath every night. Close the pores of the complexion by dashing cold water over your face and neck after bathing with warm water and a fine soap such as the old fashioned castile. If the sensitiveness continues and the pores do not contract you should consult a doctor.

John T.—As you have no dandruff on your scalp there is no reason why you should not omit the sulphur from the pilcarpine hair tonic.

Much Grateful.—There is no reason why you should not be very attractive even though you are small. You can aim for graceful lines in your clothes, and should look very well indeed in the junior sizes. With a height of five feet at 22 years of age, you could add some to the 98 pounds, and that would give a touch of maturity. Try taking olive oil three times a day a tablespoonful in the same amount of orangejuice.

Rose S.—It is possible that your pimples continue because they infect each other. Any good sulphur ointment should heal them in such a case. A special treatment for such a condition is to dust the pimples with flour of sulphur and cover them with pieces of absorbent cotton dampened in witch hazel. You can easily count upon these bits of cotton adhering to the skin for an hour or more, during which time the sulphur has done much toward healing and purifying the skin.

K. B.—To rid yourself of a double chin, massage the muscles of the neck, working with the four fingers, and use a deep motion so as to exercise fully all the muscles and fatty tissues. Massage from base of throat to the point of the chin, and follow this by massaging the chin itself, now working with the finger tips along the edge of the chin from the outside inward to the top of the throat. At the conclusion treatment, rub the chin and throat with a small piece of ice, or dash very cold water over the skin and dry with a coarse towel.

Either treatment should leave your skin all aglow, in addition to which it will make it firm so there will be no lagging afterward.

Tomorrow:—Your Fingernails.

Backache Is a Warning!

Glendale Folks Are Learning How to Heed It.

Are you miserable with an aching back? Do you get up lame and stiff; drag through the day feeling tired, weak and depressed? Then you should help your kidneys. Backache is often the first sign of failing kidneys. Urinary troubles quickly follow. Neglected, there's danger of gravel, dropsy or fatal Bright's disease. Don't wait for serious kidney sickness! Use Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys, before it is too late. This Glendale resident tells an experience:

J. W. Begg, pattern maker, 123 Eulalia St., says: "My back was weak and there was a continual soreness through the small of it. I had a dull, dragging pain across my kidneys and the kidney secretions were unnatural in color and burned in passage. However, Doan's Pills helped me from the start and one box relieved me of the trouble."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Pills—the same that Mr. Begg had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.—Advertisement.

Bride: "My husband's mother has kindly given us a carpet which is rather faded but still good. Can you tell me how to freshen its appearance?"

Answer: Colors in rugs and carpets may be freshened in three ways: (1) sponge with a mixture of one part ox gall to two parts water; (2) sponge with one quart of water containing one teaspoon of household ammonia; (3) sponge with ordinary salt and water. If you can decide upon the ammonia solution, you should experiment on a small corner of the carpet before going ahead with the entire surface, for certain colors are affected by ammonia water and may fade even more, in which case the original color may be restored by sponging with vinegar and water mixed half and half. Some housewives maintain that faded carpets can be rejuvenated by being brushed with a broom dipped in warm water which contains a little spirits of turpentine, but I have never tried this method personally.

Charlotte: "My husband does not like fruit cake, but recently ate some strudel and thought it fine. Can you give me a recipe for this?"

Answer: I have two recipes for strudel, one "Apple Strudel" and the other a German cheese cake called strudel, but they do not seem to be what you mean. However, I shall publish the one that comes nearest to it:

"Apple Strudel: Rub three tablespoons of butter into one and one-fourth cups of pastry flour, add a pinch of salt, one beaten egg, and enough sweet milk to make a paste the consistency of pie crust (I regret to say that this contributed recipe did not give the exact amount of milk). Now place the paste on a floured board, roll it thin, and spread over it the following mixture: Combine one pint of apples which have been measured after being peeled cored and chopped, one cup of bread crumbs, one-half cup of chopped raisins, one-third cup of chopped almonds and one teaspoon of ground cinnamon. Fold it over and again roll thin, then roll it up with your fingers as you would a jelly-roll. Shape it like the figure eight and bake in a moderate oven for forty-five minutes, basting now and then with a little melted butter. Serve sliced, hot or cold, with a sweet hot fruit pudding sauce."

OLDEST NEWS LETTER IN GLENDALE

West Broadway Resident Has Facsimile of First Newspaper In U. S.

Mrs. H. S. Munson of 357 West Broadway, has a facsimile of the first newspaper ever published in the United States. The Boston News-Letter, published in the Massachusets metropolis Monday, April 24, 1704. The proprietor and publisher was John Campbell, Boston postmaster. For a year previous to the appearance of the News-Letter, which was a weekly sheet of one page, folded, he had been in the habit of writing his weekly bulletin by hand, on the arrival of news from Europe, and addressing the same to Governor Fitz John Winthrop, of Connecticut, who would pass on the news.

The contents of the News-Letter, during all of Postmaster Campbell's proprietorship, comprised chiefly extracts from London papers, according to records in the possession of Mrs. Munson. The few items of news that had the appearance of being written by the postmaster were clumsily set down, without regard for punctuation or grammatical construction, she said.

The first issue of the News-Letter contains reprints from foreign dispatches that indicate a very perturbed political condition in Europe. Following is a typical dispatch:

Typical Dispatch

"Capt. Toungrello has taken five prizes off of Curraso, one of which is come in to Rhode Island mostly laden with cocoa, tobacco, liquors, etc. One of the five was one Larew, a Frenchman, a sloop of eight guns and eight patteraros, seventy-six men. Captain Larew was killed and twenty of his men killed and wounded. Captain Toungrello was wounded through the body, and five of his men, but none killed."

Mrs. Munson also has a copy of the Ulster County Gazette, published at Kingston, Ulster county, Ireland, by Samuel Freer and son, Saturday, January 4, 1800. The leading bulletin is a report of a session of the American congress, dated Tuesday, December 10, 1799, and containing an address by John Adams, speaker of the house of representatives.

Japanese Deny Secret Three-Cornered Treaty

TOKIO, Feb. 17.—Berlin despatches stating that Japan, Russia and China have signed a secret military treaty were emphatically denied here today by the Japanese foreign office. According to the Berlin story Russia and Japan agreed to supply China with joint military aid in event the latter nation was attacked by other powers. It was also claimed in this story that Russia had agreed to cede her share of Saghalien Island to Japan at the end of five years in exchange for Japanese-built battleships, submarines and destroyers.

Racetrack Plunger to Take Stand In Trial

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 17.—Jack Elerick, noted sportsman and known in New York as a maker of huge race track bets, one of the three men on trial here for the $2,000,000 mail robberies of 1921, will take the witness stand in his own behalf when the case is resumed tomorrow, attorneys said today.

ATWATER RESIDENTS APPROVE STANDARDS

Marbleite Will Be Used Throughout This District if City Council Acts Favorably on Recommendations

The Atwater Community Improvement association went on record last night favoring the installation of single-globe Marbelite ornamental standards throughout the entire district, including streets on both sides of Glendale boulevard and in Walnut park.

The matter of street lights was threshed out bit by bit at a spirited meeting held at the Baptist church. More than 200 residents of the district attended.

Decision was first reached by property owners on the east side of the boulevard on streets not already lighted. These voted for the installation of Marblelite to co-ordinate with standards already installed on Atwater, Larga, Madera, Garden and Glenhurst avenues.

A second motion was carried pledging the association to endorsement of whatever kind of standards the property owners decide upon west of Glendale boulevard. The meeting was then turned over to westsiders exclusively, who, after much discussion, decided in favor of Marblelite.

In order to present a strong case before the Los Angeles Art commission, in whose hands rests final decision on the kind of standards to be installed, a fourth motion, giving the full endorsement of the association as a whole to Marblelite standards was voted. Strenuous action will be necessary, it was pointed out, because petitions asking other kinds of lights on many streets have already been turned in. Signers claimed misunderstanding and misrepresentation, however.

Predicts Development

G. Gordon Whitnall, chairman of the Los Angeles City Planning commission, told residents of the Atwater district in his address at the meeting last night that, whether they desired it or not, the section can't help being in the very line of Los Angeles' greatest development. He predicted that within a short span of years the whole section will be rezoned for business and industrial purposes and that small homesites of today will bring many times their present value when that time comes.

Mr. Whitnall dwelt on the facts that at present, one of the only two highway links connecting Northern and Southern California is San Fernando road, passing directly through the district. Two more contacts with the north are to be established, he said, Riverside drive and the truck highway. Both of these also pass through the Atwater section. The district is one of the most strategic points in Greater Los Angeles, the speaker declared. Its main east and west boulevards and the fact that it is the gateway to Los Angeles' most promising industrial belt, the lower San Fernando valley, add to the possibilities of Atwater park, Mr. Whitnall said.

For Council

DR. JAMES A BELYEA, the seventeenth to receive more than fifty nominations in The Glendale Evening News' nominations for City Council campaign, now being conducted. Who's next?

When The Glendale Evening News announced that it would receive nominations for city councilmen, it was stated that all who received fifty or more nominations would have their pictures published, also a brief biography. It happens that Dr. James A Belyea was the seventeenth proposed candidate to receive fifty or more nominations, so his picture appears above and following is a brief story about him.

A specialist in nervous and mental diseases, Doctor James H. Belyea has achieved distinction, both east and west. He has practiced in Glendale since 1921, with offices in the Central building on East Broadway.

Doctor Belyea, who did much valuable work in the army during the World war, both in home camps and overseas, was born at Saginaw, Michigan, August 6, 1881. He attended Saginaw public schools, the Michigan Agricultural college at Lansing, and graduated doctor of medicine from Detroit College of Medicine in 1915. For one year he was an interne in St. Elizabeth's hospital at Washington, D. C., and then established the Toledo Sanitarium, Toledo, Ohio, in which he is still financially interested.

In his special field he has had an exceptional range of experience. He did post-graduate work in the government hospital for the insane at Washington, D. C., and the Michigan State Psycopathic hospital at the University of Michigan. In May 1917 he enlisted in the Medical Corps, U. S. Army, and was stationed at ten different camps and cantonments conducting examinations of thousands of enlisted men. He went overseas as neuro-psychiatrist to Evacuation Hospital 15 and remained there eleven months, and while there established clinics in nine different hospitals. He received his honorable discharge from the army July 31, 1919.

Dr. Belyea is a member of the Glendale Physicians club, American Medical association, the Los Angeles Society for Neurology and Psychiatry, the American Psychiatric association and the Nu Simga Nu fraternity. He is a York and Scottish Rite Mason, Shriner and Sciot, Elk, Knight Pythias, and a charter member of the Glendale Exchange club. He is affiliated with the Episcopal church.

For the past two years Dr. Belyea has devoted most of his time to the sudy of endocrinology, and has attained a reputation as an expert along this line. He is medical director of the Southern California Analytical Laboratory. Dr. Belyea resides at 232 North Orange street.

BURBANK NEWS

BURBANK, Feb. 17.—Local contractors have been requested by the Chamber of Commerce, in a formal resolution, to give Burbank labor the preference wherever this is feasible.

The matter was brought before the chamber by Mrs. May Clarke, who declared that a great many Mexicans have appealed to her on the theory that they are being discriminated against by the street and sewer contractors and outside men are being employed.

Plans are being developed by the Burbank Ministerial union for a series of pre-Easter noonday meetings. Tomorrow night, instead of the customary prayer meetings in local churches, the congregations will attend the John E. Brown revival meeting at the tabernacle on North Kenwood street, Glendale, it is announced.

On Tuesday, February 24, the pastors of the city and their wives will enjoy a social night, the object of the event being to extend a welcome to the new pastors who have lately come to the city. The gathering will be at the Presbyterian parsonage.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Swarttout of Aurora, Ind., who have been visiting at the home of Mrs. S. P. Leive of 444 Angeleno avenue, have gone to the home of Mr. Swarttout's nephew, Roy Swarttout.

V. Jorgenson of 301 Keeler street, after nearly two years' service as inspector for Beverly Hills city, has resigned, having accepted a similar position with the Los Angeles county road department.

Merl Erwin, who has been living at the home of Mrs. Mary J. Spencer, 411 Orange Grove avenue, while engaged in work as a civil engineer on tthe Glendale streets, has gone to Mexico, where he will do engineering work on an irrigation project.

SUNLAND NOTES

SUNLAND, Feb. 17.—With a lot and $1000 pledged by citizens to a building fund and two dozen new members in the organization, the Sunland Chamber of Commerce is actively engaged in establishing a home of its own at the earliest possible moment. A building committee has been appointed and will draw plans for the proposed building that is to be erected. This committee consists of W. E. Smith, Rudolph Henry, Harold Murray, H. R. Meador, W. E. De Generes, Mrs. J. E. Crews, Mrs. L. A. Wakefield.

A mass meeting held for the purpose of discussing ways and means of securing the funds for a building to be devoted to the Chamber of Commerce resulted in a vote to accept an offer of a lot in Sunland park, a new subdivision near tthe center of town. Newmire & Ohm, owners of Sunland park, offered a lot 100 by 100 on the corner of two streets just opened through the tract south of Michigan avenue. In addition to this gift to the chamber, Newmire & Ohm headed a subscription list with $100, which was duplicated by Straube & Sweet, owners of the Valley Lumber yard. A total of $700 was subscribed before the meeting was adjourned. Other contributions have since been pledged and the committee in charge plans entertainments to further increase the tmount. This action on the part of the Chamber of Commerce has aroused great enthusiasm among the residents and many new members are being added.

An incomplete list of contributors to the building fund includes Newmire & Ohm, Straube & Sweet Rudolph Henry, John Abernathy, Fred Springer, H. Decker, C. Kruger, J. Burdge, C. McDonald, H. S. Coombs, J. M. Overholtzer, N. C. Berry, P. P. Carter, G. L. Nottage, Otto Bohn, Mr. White, Mr. Underhill, H. R. Meador, Mr. Generes, Mr. Mukson, Mr. Marks, Otto Hubner, A. M. Maxwell.

This afternoon the Monte Vista Parent-Teacher association will celebrate Founder's Day. The Monte Vista school will give a Washington and Lincoln entertainment at the same time in celebration of the birthday anniversaries of those two statesmen. Special speaking by Parent-Teacher association members will feature the celebration in the afternoon, starting at 2 o'clock. An historic pageant depicting episodes from the time of Washington to the present will be given by the school children and tea will be served. Supper will be served by the Parent-Teacher association from 5:30 to 7:30. A program of entertainment beginning at 8 o'clock will include musical numbers by the Lewis Sisters trio of Tujunga and a Washington and Lincoln pageant by school children.

A committee of citizens has been appointed to aid in securing street lights for unlighted Sunland streets. The members are: A. J. Marsh, W. E. De Generes, J. L. Notttage, C. A. Edwards and Mr. Morrissy.

Radium Water

has amazing health values. Drink it FREE for 10 days

Gallup, New Mexico, Nov. 22, 1924.
I use the jar in my own family and was surprised at the quick action as well as the wonderful results I have gotten in my chronic constipation.

My family drinks the water from this jar and we need no other regulator.
H. W. THURSTON.

Sardis, B. C., August 15, 1924.
It is with great pleasure, and also with a feeling of gratitude that I try in a few words to tell you what Radium Water has done for me.

For a number of years I have been a great sufferer from ulcers of the duodenum and stomach along with other complications, which seemed to defy the best medical science, until I gave up all hope of ever being well again. My last attack which last about three months was terrible. It was almost impossible to bear the pain. A friend told me about the Radium Water and of the great work it was doing. I grasped at it as a last ray of hope and to the great surprise of all, the Radium Water worked like a charm, and it is a wonder to all. In twenty-four hours after taking my first glass of water the pain stopped and it is now nearly three months since I have had any pain at all. Now I can eat anything in reason without any trouble, my nerves are normal, and I sleep all night through and in the morning I am fresh and full of pep. I gained five pounds in weight in about a week, and today I am alive and enjoying every minute of the day. Yours in all good faith,
DR. W. M. CARTER.

Our friends—those who have tried radium water—are writing our best advertisements. They become tremendously enthusiastic.
If it brings better health to them, it may mean the same to you. We believe that it will.
But we want you to be the judge. So we invite you to try it FREE for ten days.

Proved Facts

The value of radium water has long been recognized by medical and scientific authorities.
Thousands go each year for treatment to Hot Springs, Arkansas, and other famous health springs. The results are almost miraculous in many cases.
And the results come from radium water. For aside from radio-activity in the water, there is little if anything in it which you do not have in the water you drink.
But radio-activity can not be stored in water. It escapes.

Can Be Returned

Fortunately a few years ago, a way was discovered to return this invaluable element to water. The Radium Ore Revigator provides the method, without changing the taste of the water.
But we want you to see for yourself what radium water means to you in health. Note the results. Try for ten days at our cost and without obligation to you.
Several Revigators have been installed locally. Visit them to drink the water. Or take a bottle and fill it daily for drinking at home. Do this today.

DYNAMITERS TO FACE HARD GAMES

Heavyweights Play Covina Today; Lightweights to Enter Tournament

By ROSS M. RUSSELL, Jr.
Of The Evening News Staff.

Although basketball season is over it is still on at Glendale High. As in football the Dynamiters are not content to be through just because the season is over. This week all three classes have games which will be more or less decisive. Today the heavies play their final game with Covina on the Colts' outside court.

Thursday the fleaweights tangle with Alhambra in the final game of the schedule, to decide the championship of the Central league in the 110-pound class. The lightweights, having won their pennant, are practicing hard for their first play-off game. As yet their opponents had not been selected. The association meets Thursday night to decide the drawings for the play-off.

All in all, it's a fine season for basketball in Glendale, with one banner already tucked away the Red and Black teams still have good chances for two more. Coach Hicks' fleaweights should put the second flag on ice Thursday as they are doped out to beat the Moors. The heavies will have a crack at Alhambra for the championship if Citrus beats the Moors, if not they are out of luck. Nevertheless, Citrus tied Alhambra a couple of weeks ago and it will probably be a flip-up when the two teams meet again.

Entered In Dog Show

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—Indications today were that Paavo Nurmi, the gent with the body of a man and the legs of an antelope, will remain in this country for the outdoor track and field season with the laudable idea of establishing world's records at all distances between 880 yards and ten miles.

Strong pressure is being brought to bear upon the great Finn to reconsider his original intention of returning to Abo late next month and the latest advices were that he was about to capitulate.

If he does, one of his first appearances outdoors will be at the University of Pennsylvania relay carnival late in April at which time he will be asked to try to get under his world's record of 8:58 1-5, established less than seventy-two hours ago.

The fact that Franklin field has one of the fastest cinder paths in the world is said to be one of the determining factors in Nurmi's disposition to remain with us indefinitely.

RINGSIDE GOSSIP by FAIR PLAY

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—Bert Colima has been named as the official welcomer when Mickey Walker makes his debut in sunkist California. The chances are that Colima will find the genial Mickey to be the bearer of bad news from the east.

Several years ago Joe Woodman and George Lawrence hit upon the happy idea of sending for the best boys on the west coast and cleaning up the east with them.

Among the immigrants was Colima. The papers were flooded with highly colored accounts of Bert's prowess and this practically ruined the west coast boy's chances of getting a good match.

Managers of topnotchers who are always careful of the reputations of their charges ran for a hole and pulled it in after them whenever Colima's name was mentioned.

About this time Al Jennings came down from Bridgeport with a likely looking middleweight and offered to throw him into the ring with any one just for training expenses. All Jennings wanted was the chance to show his lad.

Dave Driscoll, the old-time ball player, was making matches for Ebbets Field at the time and he matched Jennings' unknown hopeful with Colima, the unknown happened to be none other than Jack Delaney, the bubble exploder.

Colima sailed along with him on an even keel for three rounds and then ran into one of Jack's celebrated right uppercuts and was excused for the rest of the afternoon.

Colima may or may not know that Walker and Delaney are on a par when it comes to ability and that the welter champ has it all over Delaney for pure unadulterated aggressiveness.

Portland Holdouts to Sign or Be Suspended

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 17.—Jim Poole, first baseman, and Johnny Jones, shortstop, must come down from their holdout perch and accept terms offered by the Portland baseball club or draw suspensions, President Thomas L. Turner stated here today. Turner advised that Poole's contract made him one of the highest-paid players in the league, and that Jones wants more money than a big-league star.

Walter Leverenz, perennial left-handed holdout, is also living up to past performances, but Turner said he had the promise of a good left-handed pitcher from the Philadelphia Athletics if Leverenz does not sign. Eighteen out of thirty players on the Beavers' roster have signed 1925 contracts, Turner said.

JOHN B. FOSTER'S VIEWS

By Special Leased Wire to The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—The two major leagues have agreed on a rule regarding their young players, which is likely to make quite a bit of difference in the future in major managerial experiments.

The new agreement provides, in short, that a manager may keep a recruit player out on option for two years instead of one as in the past. The agreement is not without its technical features which, of course, are connected with almost all baseball legislation affecting the relations of players and clubs. But the very technicality of the thing will be a help to those major league managers who have difficulty in making up their minds whether to tie a string to a certain player or to let him loose.

Hereafter, there will be more string tying and less letting loose. This may not be so pleasant for the players but the feelings of players are not always considered as they jog along the road from the filbert bush to the big leagues.

Take an example to see how the new rule works out. The Phillies, for instance, have been unable to farm a player out for more than one season without obtaining waivers on him.

Now suppose the Phillies obtained a recruit pitcher who looked pretty good, but was not ripe yet for the big show. It puts him out on option, let us say, to the Reading club. He does fairly well during the season of 1925, but the Philly management still thinks he ought to have a little more seasoning.

Under the previous rule, they would have to ask and obtain waivers on him before he could be put out on option again. If some other club had observed and liked his work and put in a claim for him, the Phillies would have to give him up or put him on the big league roster.

Under the new rule, Mr. Almost-ready pitcher can be sent out by the Phillies on option again in 1926, to any minor league of a higher classification, and maybe, by the spring of 1927, the Phillies will have a first class pitcher ready to go to the mound.

There have been several instances in the past where major league clubs that were not quite satisfied with the first year work of young players still had a hankering to keep them. Yet when they asked for waivers which would enable them to keep these players under control they found three or four other clubs declining to give their assent. They then had to choose between putting the players in question on the regular list or letting them go. And more than one manager has been fearfully razzed for letting go some player who soon made good with a bang for some other club.

The new rule, if carried to the limit, would permit a major league club to retain practically a complete auxiliary nine for two years in the bushes—a fact which seemingly has escaped many followers of baseball. Indeed, with the fifteen player option limit which Commissioner Landis has been letting the big league get away with, a full team with an extra battery or two and utility man could be maintained in the bushes.

The new rule has placed major-league managers in a better position to experiment than ever before, but it also has placed the first year ball player where he cannot hope to get away from the first club that gets him until he has done two years "time."

The reason for the new rule as advanced by the majors is that so much money is invested in players that the big fellows simply have to be protected.

CHURCHMEN WIN FROM HULI, 29-28

League Leaders Suffer First Defeat in Game Marked By Hard Playing

By A. S. HALL
Of The Evening News Staff.

As unexpected as a blizzard in Southern California, the M. E. churchmen descended upon the Huli Trucks last night at the Harvard High school gym, and when the smoke of battle had cleared away, the league leaders' record showed its first defeat, for the churchmen upset the trucks, 29 to 28, in the most thrilling and hard-fought game staged since the league started.

The truckmen took the lead in scoring, but did not hold it for long. They tied the count in the second half a few minutes before the whistle blew; they forged one point ahead, only to have the churchmen pull away and lead, 23 to 20, at half time. They threatened again in the third quarter and looked dangerous in the final stanza, but at the time the sure-shooting trio. The way point behind.

The victory does not change the positions in standings, but gives the churchmen a firmer grip on third place, and makes them a menace to the Radios, now in second spot. Colburn, Ward and Hallam were the triple-threat men who wrecked the trucks, while Dick and Wolf aided and abetted the sure-shooting trio. They way they played:

First Quarter

Jensen, center for the truckmen, started the scoring with a basket. Griffith, forward for the truckmen, made it 4-0 with another basket. Hallam, forward for the churchmen, worked the sphere down the floor and caged a basket, 4-2. Griffith added another basket for the truckmen, 6-2. Ward, forward for the churchmen, located the hoop, 6-4. Hallam tied up the count, 6-6, with a pretty shot, and a little while later put his team in the lead with another basket, 8-6. Colburn, center for the churchmen, scored, 10-6. Hallam repeated, 12-6. Just before the quarter ended, Fanset, forward for the truckmen, found the hoop, the score at the quarter being: churchmen 12, truckmen 8.

Second Quarter

Fanset sank a free throw after missing the first shot, 12-9. Ward made two baskets in quick succession, 16-9, and Colburn got a free throw and caught the rebound on the second shot to make a basket, giving the churchmen a ten-point margin, 19-9. The truckmen, facing an overwhelming defeat, began to fight furiously for possession of the ball. Jensen scored, 19-11; Griffith shot a pretty one from one corner, 19-13; Jensen made two free throws, 19-15, and then added two baskets, 19-17 and 19-19, to knot the count. The truckmen took the lead for the first time since early in the game when Jensen made a free shot on Weise holding, 20-19, but Weise put the churchmen back in the lead with a long shot, 21-20, and Ward made the final basket of the half. The half ended: churchmen 23, truckmen 20.

Third Quarter

Colburn opened the scoring in the third frame by shooting from midfloor, 25-20. H. Doll, rushed into the game after arriving from San Francisco, took Griffith's place, while Griffith took McIver's place. Doll caged one from beneath the hoop, 25-22, and Jensen put the truckmen in a dangerous position with a basket, 25-24. Ward widened the margin for the churchmen, 27-24, and Colburn made it 29-24. Griffith sank a free throw as the quarter ended: churchmen 29, truckmen 25.

Fourth Quarter

The crowd went wild as the fourth quarter started and victory seemed in the grasp of the churchmen. Many fans who had seen the Huli truckmen play before, expected the truckmen to come back strong and win. Players on both teams were pretty well winded, as only three points were made during the quarter. Jensen made a free throw and Doll got a basket, the game ending: churchmen 29, Truckmen 28. Several times the truckmen were in a position to score the winning points; but their shots missed, in one case the ball running around the hoop and then jumping out.

The lineups:

M. E. Church—29		Huli Trucks—28
Ward (10)	R.F.	Fanset (3)
Hallam (8)	L.F.	Griffith (7)
Colburn (9)	C.	Jensen (14)
Dick	R.G.	Wilde
Wolf	L.G.	McIver

Substitutions—Weise (2) for Colburn; Colburn for Hallam; Doll (4) for Griffith, Griffith for McIver.

The Calla Lily team showed a vast amount of improvement when the milkmen defeated the Shimmer Construction Co., team of Santa Monica, 33 to 16, at the Harvard High gym last night, following the Churchmen-Truckmen battle. State Champions Welcomed Back Today; Banquet Is Planned for Players

Harry Manush and his championship K. C. baseball team returned from Oakland this morning, after winning the state title on Sunday by a ninth-inning rally which netted them three runs and gave them the game, 7 to 5. Wire reports on that fatal ninth inning differed, so the lowdown on what happened follows:

Oakland leading 5 to 4, with Vinci pitching. Manush and Myers were the first two batters to face him. One went out on an infield fly and the other fanned. Cozington up. Two strikes on Cozington. Cozington hit over second base and safe on Marriott's error. Bonnelly singled into left, Cozington going to third. McDonald catching for Oakland in place of Dooley. Cozington scored the tying run on a wild pitch. Plummer relieved Vinci as pitcher. Gillispie walked, and went to second on a wild pitch, Bonnelly going to third. O'Shea walked, filling the bases. Seiser doubled, scoring Bonnelly and Gillispie. H. Doll fanned to end the inning.

The winning team was welcomed at the Southern Pacific depot this morning by members of the Knights of Columbus, and will be tendered a rousing reception at the meeting to be held Thursday night. A banquet for the players, sponsored by the local council, appears in the offing.

OPEN BRAND PARK WHEN IMPROVED

Additional Land as Entrance Will Be Deeded After Tract Surveyed

Brand park is not yet open to the public, although it has been deeded to the city by Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Brand and accepted by formal resolution of the Glendale City Council. This statement was issued this morning, immediately following a session of the park board, held at the City Hall, Chairman L. H. Wilson presiding.

Not until surveys have been made and grades established will the park be opened, as it will be necessary for Mr. and Mrs. Brand to deed an additional strip of land through their estate, running north from Mountain street, in order to provide an entrance to the park, it was brought out. At present the only entrance is through the Miradero grounds.

A relief map will be made free of cost to the city by James T. Edwards of 1213 North Brand boulevard, noted geographer, as soon as contour maps have been prepared by the city engineer's office. From these maps the park board will develop this magnificent 800-acre tract along scientific lines.

Decide On Finance

The matter of financing the development of Brand park was taken up this morning, and the board decided that no extensive improvements can be instituted until adequate funds have been provided. These funds will be included in the 1925 municipal budget, under park board appropriation, if present plans carry. The city's fiscal year closes July 1, and a complete budget of park requirements will be drawn up prior to that time.

Members of the board made a tour of Patterson avenue park, noting that the fence around the tennis courts is practically completed. The board examined the grade of the new road to skirt the west side of the park, coming from Patterson avenue and thence along the north edge to connect with a contemplated extension of Hahn avenue.

ACTOR'S 'MYSTERY BRIDE' IS HEIRESS

Lou Tellegen Weds Daughter Of Multi-Millionaire Glass Maker

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 27.—The "mystery bride" of Lou Tellegen, famous stage and screen star, former husband of Geraldine Farrar, was revealed today to International News Service as Isabel Craven Dilworth, 22, daughter of the multi-millionaire glass manufacturer of Philadelphia.

Mrs. Tellegen is a niece of James Bell, Minneapolis flour king, granddaughter of Governor Dale of Virginia and a cousin of the Earl of Craven in England.

Tellegen was married in Rutherford, N. J., suburb of New York, December 17, 1923, the day following Geraldine Farrar's divorce from the actor the grand opera star had called the "perfect lover."

'Boy Wonder' Golfer Sets Near Record

Harold Thompson, 18-year-old "boy golf wonder" of Glendale, staged a near approach to a world's record Sunday, over the Oakmont Country club's golf links when in matched play with J. F. Robertson, club champion, he shot twenty-four holes before breaking a tie. On the twenty-fifth hole Robertson missed a putt for par, causing the break in favor of Thompson.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 17.—Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion, will be subpoenaed from his honeymoon with his bride, formerly Estelle Taylor, motion picture star, to testify as an "expert" at the trial on "Kid" McCoy on charges of robbery and assault, it was announced today by McCoy's attorneys.

Dempsey will be asked to tell of the deleterious effects of blows administered in the prize ring as the former pugilist's lawyers attempt to prove McCoy was irresponsible at the time he shot and wounded Mr. and Mrs. Sam Schapps and William Ross and robbed four persons on August 13, 1924, the day the body of his "last sweetheart," Mrs. Teresa Mors, was found in her apartment.

NEW YORK CLOSING

By W. S. COUSINS
For International News Service.

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—The stock market made little progress in extricating itself from the slump into which it had been thrown by Monday's violent selling movement.

Prices showed a tendency to rally at the start but heavy selling broke out again around noon and prices tumbled to still lower levels.

Another violent decline in the grain markets did not help the situation in the stock market.

While considerable selling was traceable to the bearish professionals, there was little if any kind of selling in the form of "attacks" on leading stocks.

The bulls and bears staged a lively fight over American Can, Baldwin, General Electric and other market industrials in the second hour. Trading in these stocks was unusually heavy and most of the sales were made at slightly higher prices.

The oil stocks made no effort to reflect the new developments in the industry. Heavy selling of Sinclair, Shell Union, Marland, Phipps and other leading oils caused much confusion and rush to unload stocks. Coppers were also sold quite freely in the fourth hour, American Smelting and Refining, a prominent leader in the forward movement of coppers last month, losing 7 points at 92½; Cerro de Pasco lost 1½; Anaconda was down 1 at 42; Kennecott, Inspiration and Utah securities were down a point each.

The bears shifted to the equipment, sugar, shipping and specialty stocks in this period and appeared to have little difficulty sending prices to lower levels.

General Motors and Mack trucks, two of the market leaders of the last week, were exceptionally weak while U. S. Steel sold at low prices for the movement.

Stock sales today totalled 2,183,000 shares; bonds, $16,603,000.

Capital Ships All Destroyed Under Treaty

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17—America has fulfilled its obligations under the five-power naval treaty and completed the destruction of the capital ships doomed under that document. Formal notice to this effect was served on the secretary of state today by Secretary of the Navy Wilbur.

The Washington treaty provided that the destruction of ships by the signatory powers must be accomplished within a year and a half after the ratification of the treaty by the powers. France, the last power to act, ratified a year and a half ago today.

Collins' Body to Stay In Cavern Tomb Forever

Lee Collins, father, after the abandonment had been announced.

"I will never permit any second attempt to get Floyd out," he said. "I am satisfied with the situation as it is."

"I am satisfied in my own mind," H. T. Carmichael said, "that Collins never can be gotten out. My opinion, however, does not matter. For this reason we have sent four friends down into the manhole to give their opinion and to establish by affidavit the corpus delecti. If their views coincide with mine, a coroner's jury will pass formal verdict and we will tumble the rocks back into the shaft, making it an eternal monument to Collins."

Hero's Nerve Broken

The man to climb over the slippery ladder down the side of the shaft was John Geralds, hero of the early rescue work, who nearly two weeks ago climbed shakily from the black mouth of the cave, his nerve broken, to report:

"I've made my last trip. I think he's in there—forever."

In the time that has elapsed, all the ingenuity of man and all the modern machinery which he has invented, have been used against the same forces which he fought with his naked hands. And today he entered the cave by a new route, but a route equally as dangerous—and still his friend was pinned beneath the same boulder as inaccessible to man as the day he was trapped.

Geralds remained beneath the surface only a few minutes. Then he silently and sadly climbed back to the pit.

Make Investigation

In rapid succession, Isah Lancaster, Wallace Page and Norman Parker went below and then the four gathered a little apart from the workmen to talk in low tones.

A coroner's jury, all experienced in cave work, were also sent down into the manhole before the side drift work definitely is abandoned, Carmichael announced. He said he wished three men to confirm his views of the futility of further work to recover the body.

The last members of the coroner's jury came from the shaft at 11:25 o'clock and H. C. Tucker, acting coroner, announced that he had seen Collins, recognized him, was certain that he was dead and was equally sure "there is no way of removing the body without probable further loss of human life."

His two jurymen, T. L. Gorby and Claude Monroe, corroborated his statements.

Abandon Operations

M. E. S. Posey, state highway engineer, then entered the shaft for a final inspection, and, following his report, the official announcement was made that operations were to be suspended definitely.

Work of dismantling the camp was started immediately. The huge canvas covering which has served as a roof for the pit, was taken down and workmen began preparations for hauling the heavy machinery up the steep rocky runway to the cliff.

Only the formal verdict of the coroner's jury was wanting to place the stamp of finis on Sand Cave's tragedy, and this, it was expected, would be delivered within a few hours.

TREES MAY GO TO GIVE AID IN LIGHTS

Advancement Body Decides Action on Glendale Avenue Parkways

The trees will be removed from the parkways along Glendale avenue, in order to lend more efficiency to the newly-installed lights, if property owners on that thoroughfare favor the proposal, it was decided this noon by the Glendale Advancement association, at the regular weekly luncheon meeting, held at the Harriett Mae Tea room on East Harvard street.

The association empowered President C. W. Ingledue to appoint a committee to "feel out" property owners on the subject, and he named O. W. Tarr chairman of the committee, with George Caldwell and Gus Rosenberger as co-members.

The association voted to take up with business men of Glendale avenue the proposal of Elwood M. Ingledue that a fiesta be held some night this spring. W. M. Mills was named chairman of this committee, with T. H. Menk and J. Mercer as co-members.

Sycamore Improvement

It was voted to take up with the park board the matter of planting trees along the parkways on Sycamore Canyon road, in order to beautify this 100-foot boulevard. This action was taken after S. C. Kinch, a member of the City Planning commission, had stated that the policy of the body he represents is to permit no business on Sycamore Canyon road, other than that already established at the Colorado boulevard intersection. Glendale avenue will be the north and south business artery of the east side, he declared.

It was voted to acquire the Cypress avenue reservoir site as a park site and to take steps toward inducing the city to beautify the grounds of the Maple street reservoir, until such time as this reservoir can be abandoned. The association adopted a resolution of thanks to all the organizations and individuals co-operating in the light demonstration on Glendale avenue last Saturday night.

Hold Funeral Services Near Tomb of Collins

the fifteenth chapter of the First Corinthians and then the informal choir rendered "Jesus Lover of My Soul."

There was a prayer by Rev. Roy Biser of the Methodist church of Glasgow, followed by a short talk by Mrs. I. D. Withers.

J. F. Danieleve added a few simple words of tribute and the service ended with singing the hymn "Asleep In Jesus."

That was about all there was to it—this requiem for the soul of the man whose plight had the sympathy and prayers of the civilized world.

Athwart the hillside the slanting sun rays bathed the countryside in a mellow light. Here and there was seen a sprig of green, the promise of another spring and from this came the theme of the prayers that were offered up to God.

"By the caves this man lived and by the caves he died" said Dr. Dickey.

No pulpit with elaborate scrolls and painted woodwork formed a background for him. Instead under his feet was the monster stump of a great tree.

"It is far better that he is allowed to remain at rest where he was found rather than to remove him to some cemetery," Dr. Dickey continued. "There was upon his face a look of agony and his dear ones will not have the memory of such a last look."

Besides the aged father and mother of the dead man were two vacant chairs. They were placed there for the brothers. At the time of the starting of the service neither of them had appeared.

The friends and sympathizers filed slowly past the aged parents of the dead and shook their hands.

A BETTER BARGAIN THAN THE FOLLOWING

Large 2-story 8-room Colonial home, (lot 55x185), living room, across entire front, beautiful mullioned windows, real fireplace, fine grained woodwork, good wall paper, large dining room, same class of windows, dining room opens on large open patio, with pergola roof, potted plants and a lovely garden with roses, all kinds of choice shrubs, flowering plants, huge shade trees (peppers, elderberry, mulberry, etc.), brick walks, croquet grounds, high, sightly fence enclosing all.

Coming inside house again, there is a cozy breakfast room, mighty well planned, kitchen, roomy screen porch, etc. At the end of the living room is the staircase leading to upper floor. At head of stairs there is a den. On the left a sewing room, opening onto upper balcony. Four bedchambers (one a veritable sleeping porch) modern bathroom, closets galore. From every window is a regular panorama of trees, mountains, cities and sky.

There is also a double garage (plastered) with large room overhead, connecting with the upper story of house. Then, in front and on the sides a splendid lawn, with shrubs and hedge. On other front porch, which faces east are flower boxes all filled with choice plants.

MARKET SUMMARY

Harry Hurwitz, stockholder in the Daniel Boone Woolen Mills, has filed a petition in Chicago courts asking a receiver be appointed.

Midcontinent crude oil prices are due for further advances, according to E. F. Hutton & Co. wire advices, as a result of premiums being offered by small purchasers and refiners who need to augment their own production.

Southern California oil production last week showed a decrease, but totalled 320,200 barrels daily.

DuPont de Nemours declared a divident of $2.50 on common, putting that stock on a $10 annual basis. United Cigar Stores paid regular quarterly two per cent cash and 1¼ per cent in common stock on common and 1¾ per cent on preferred.

SERVANTS ROW FOR HIGHER SALARIES

Balkans Have Their Problem As Well as America; Girls Privileged

SOFIA, Feb. 17.—The Balkans, too, have a servant problem. There are still families in Southeastern Europe rich enough to employ servants, but it is almost impossible to find servants, and when found the mistresses are unable to keep them pleased.

The old situation, when willing servant girls begged haughty mistresses to give them employment, and the mistresses in turn treated the girls as slaves, has been reversed. Now, when the mistresses are lucky enough to find applicants for "positions" they practice all their wiles to induce the girls to join their households, usually unsuccessfully.

Servants Scarce

In Bulgaria, at least, servant girls are scarce. The few still willing to perform menial work are insisting upon treatment and wages which the pre-war servants would not have dared to suggest.

"Your day is gone, ma'am," one girl told a prospective mistress. "You high-toned folks have abused and trampled upon as long enough."

"Go your way, you bourgeois ma'am," said another. "I wouldn't come to work for you if you were the King's daughter."

Their insolent attitude is attributed to the Bolshevist experiment in Russia, by which the working girl believes she has gained the ascendency over the bourgeois class.

Fix Own Salary

Throngs of girls seeking housework formerly flocked the squares in Sofia. They were to be had for the asking and the mistress had only to make her choice.

The Sofia Servant Ploshtad is usually deserted now. One lone girl seen lurking in a corner is quickly surrounded by eager and amiable housewives, who resort to all sorts of arguments and tricks to persuade the girl to go home with them.

Salary is never mentioned. The girl sets her own price and she goes with the mistress who is most amiable and who can tell the best story of the infinitesimal amount of work to be done.

CROESUS PIKER TO NATION'S SPENDER

One Washington, D. C. Man Pays Out More Than All Nation's Millionaires

By ROBERT T. SMALL
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—The towering fortunes of the Rockefellers, the Fords, the Rothchilds, the Morgans and all the other modern descendants of Croesus, fade into complete insignificance when compared to the spendings of a very modest man here in Washington—a man soft-spoken, mild eyed, who counts his friends by the score and who unlike most great spenders is so efficient they say no one can ever quite take his place.

In a brief spending career of thirty-three years, this man has either witnessed or authorized the paying out of the stupendous sum of 69,000,000,000. The young man, for he is still that, is just about to set aside $3,622,000,000 to be spent during a twelve-month period. And yet in the old days, they used to write novels and act a play about a young man named Brewster who tried to spend a measly million dollars in one year.

Like all other spenders the Washington champion has "gone the limit" since the war. During the first twenty-six years of his more or less reckless career he spent only about $21,000,000,000. During the last seven years he has spent $48,000,000,000, or more than twice as much as in what might be termed his amateur days.

This Is His Job

The spender in question is not your Uncle Sam, as some might have supposed, but his spending coincides with those of your uncle for he is a humble worker in Uncle Sam's ranks and his name is Kennedy F. Rea. His position is clerk of the all powerful appropriations committee of the United States Senate. He has been with the Senate committee since 1910, but for eighteen years prior to that time he was with the House committee of appropriations, first as messenger and later as assistant clerk.

Mr. Rea came to the capitol at an epochal time in the nation's history. It was the year that the annual appropriations for the first time reached the half billion mark. It will be seen therefore that this young spender's influence was felt from the very jump. The highest the appropriations for the government had ever reached before Representative William S. Holman of Indiana, the first great "watch dog of the treasury" brought his young Hoosier friend to Washington and set him down in the House on committee on appropriations, was $463,383,480. Immediately there was a jump to more than $524,000,000. This was back in 1892. In 1895 and 1896 Mr. Rea saw the annual expenditures drop down below the half billion mark, but soon there was a jump to three-quarters of a billion and at last in the year 1909 there came the famous "billion dollar Congress" which caused so much comment and criticism. The criticism was not stilled until Uncle Joe Cannon, speaking for the defense, exclaimed:

"Hell's bells, this is a billion dollar country," or words to that effect.

Then Came War

From 1909 until 1917 Mr. Rea saw "his" expenditures racking along at the rate of a little more than $1,000,000,000 a year, with everybody happy, and then came the war and the big hop.

From $1,500,000,000 in 1917, the appropriations jumped to nearly $19,000,000,000 in 1918, and then to the tremendous total of more than $27,000,000,000 for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1919..

Thank fortune for the taxpayers that was the apex of Mr. Rea's spending career. He sobered up rapidly after that, immediately dropping to a mere $7,000,000,000 the next year and then down to $4,000,000,000 in 1921. As already stated Mr. Rea is going to try hold his expenditures to $3,622,125,959.19 during the year ending June 30, 1926. He has it all figured out to the penny. That is the way Kennedy Rea works. He is precision itself and without him Congress would be like a rudderless ship. He is more than a spender. He is an institution.

Make Journey to Africa

England is attaching much significance to the trip of the DUKE and DUCHESS OF YORK to East Africa. The journey was planned to prepare him for the role of colonial viceroy and to popularize him so that he can take the place of the Prince of Wales should anything happen to the future king.

COMMENT by GIL A. COWAN

No sooner comes word of Floyd Collins being found dead in Sand Cave, Kentucky, from exhaustion and starvation after his seventeen-day entombment, than a small Colorado town reports a man found alive after being buried thirty-six days in a haystack.

Anything is possible—and, according to International News Service advices, it was not until Saturday that scientific men at the cave gave up hope for Collins coming out alive. Everyone hoped for the best.

But why should he die when the Colorado man lived twice as long?

Therein hangs another tale for scientists to tell, but from personal observations very different conditions exist in a cave and a haystack.

The writer has visited the workings of Arizona mines and if there are no gases present, you will note that a lighted candle in the miners' camp burns ever so modestly, unless it is caught in a draft. Men cannot work below the ground for long shifts for lack of oxygen unless it is forced in by fans. Conditions for life are not favorable in caves unless well ventilated. So it was that Collins died from gradual suffocation.

Suffocation is possible in a haystack, also. But cattle have a habit of burrowing into the hay, or straw pile, and keeping out of the cold. Sometimes when they become buried their exertion to get out causes strangulation, but it is not a lack of oxygen, particularly.

A fire insurance adjuster will prove this point. Many claims are paid on burning hay barns before there is any external evidence of fire. But you may be sure they are not paying a "total loss" unless they know fire is there—and inescapable.

Spontaneous combustion in expanding damp hay sets fire to the very heart of the stack.

Insurance men are called in and with long aluminum poles, pushed into the pile, section after section, do they locate the depth of the blaze, pay off the farmer and allow him to await developments, which is a simultaneous burst of flame from all four sides of the stack, after which the fire burns itself out in a few days.

All of which is recounted to prove there is oxygen and moisture in hay which will sustain a human longer than if he were caught in a cave or mine. Neither experience likely would be relished, particularly if the haystack caught fire.

Bruce Barton, noted magazine writer and advertising man, expresses himself not desirous of becoming a millionaire, although he wouldn't mind having the money.

Harry Carr, Los Angeles editor, says the same. He actually sees dollars chasing the several hundred millionaires in the southland this winter.

Yet the expressions of both Barton and Carr are made possible by millionaire publishers, who evidently like to read such chatter. And try to divest any wealth or prestige from either of the millionaires in question. Yes, ask them for an honest chance to make a million yourself, with their aid, and see what they say, if they even look at you, much less talk to you.

However, millionaires are not such ogre types as you may imagine. They are only human, and usually very human. John D. Rockefeller has given millions to science and education; Andrew Carnegie gave his millions to art and literature; and so on until we come right near home.

Henry Huntinghton has enriched Southern California with a great library and art gallery; Dr. Norman Bridge made possible, among others, the California Institute of Technology at Pasadena. Many others might be mentioned.

And Glendale has just received a gift of 800 acres, the choicest spot of the Verdugo hills, perhaps, from L. C. Brand, whose benefaction is estimated at upwards of a half million dollars should the city endeavor to duplicate the gift.

Builders of private fortunes are merely conservators of wealth. While one cannot advocate the grasping, money-grabbing tactics which have made some millionaires, the youth of today should be made aware of the lessons in the lives of these true philanthropists.

NANTUCKET IS TRYING NEW SYSTEM

After Having Budget Board For Ten Years, Find It Was All Wrong

By FRANK P. SIBLEY
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925

NANTUCKET, Mass., Feb. 17.—This town, county and island—for Nantucket is all three—if you include the islets of Muskeeget and Tuckernuck—has risen once more in its might and has set things right.

Nobody on the island will tell you it is as serious as all that; it was simply bringing the town's procedure into line with the law. Nantucket, original, unique in its methods, has had a budget board for ten years, but only recently it found it had no by-law under which it could have a board.

Accordingly, it met in special town meeting, solemnly passed a by-law creating a committee of nine, three to go out of office each year, to prepare suggestions for town appropriation. This law is to be sent to the attorney general of the state for his O. K., as to its constitutionality.

Dead Auto Law

Nantucket is a little sensitive about constitutionality, because there was a man named Lincoln S. Folger, who rather put it over on the town. There was an ordinance forbidding automobiles on the island. Mr. Folger found the town ordinance did not run on the state road, and he brought his machine across the sound.

When he desired to tour to Sconset, at the far end of Nantucket, he had his automobile towed by a wagon—a horse drawn vehicle—as far as the beginning of the state road, and then started under his own power for the rest of the seven miles. His lawyer said the ordinance was not constitutional anyway, and Mr. Folger made that opinion stick.

Behind the regulation of the town's procedure, however, lies a whole history of Nantucket politics. To begin with, this is the end of the board of ten members, self perpetuating, which has virtually settled the town's appropriations for the last nine years. Just how many of the men on that board will be on the new committee of nine will not be known until after the next regular town meeting, when the select men will appoint the new board.

Complaints Made

"There may be some, there may be some," is as far as the average Nantucketer will go.

One reason for the change arose from complaints of one faction that recent replacements had been made for political reasons. The "crowd" also raised the somewhat delicate point that issues, usually made against every financial advising board in municipal life—the question whether the board invariably acts for the public good or whether personal reasons do sometimes prevail.

The board itself was in the nature of a reform. Nantucket, up to ten years ago, was one of the greatest towns—seeming towns in Massachuestts. Its town meetings were almost internal. They lasted a whole week always two sessions a day and three hours a session, often the meetings ran over into a second week.

Procedure Long

The procedure was to begin by setting times for arguing the various topics to be taken up, and the orators of Nantucket, thus forewarned, made full use of their opportunities. The meeting became a sort of festival, one way of helping pass the time when there was no fishing and no summer population.

Often, by reason of eloquence or by reason of judicious pressure, the town's appropriations were poorly adjusted; sometimes one street would be voted $5,000 and another $500, when the needs were really in inverse artio.

Named in 1915

In 1915, the first advisory committee of ten men was appointed by the moderator of that year. Of those ten, four are members of the committee just legislated out of existence.

The committee of ten was strictly an advisory committee. Its duties were to meet, before town meetings, and study the needs of the town for the ensuing year. Next, they had hearings at which citizens could put forth arguments for consideration. Finally, the advisory committee made a report which went thoroughly into details, recommending appropriations. Its say so was generally accepted, and its recommendations usually went through. Incidentally, this procedure let all the gas out of the town meetings which fell to one day or two in length.

NIGHT COUGH QUICKLY RELIEVED

This is the substance of a letter received from H. W. Webb, Quincy, Ill., "I coughed a great deal, especially at night. Tried almost everything and found nothing to equal FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR COMPOUND. One dose relieved my cough and I rested well all night." One of the largest selling cough medicines in the world. Contains no opiates. Safe for children. Insist upon Foley's. Refuse substitutes.
